Reflections

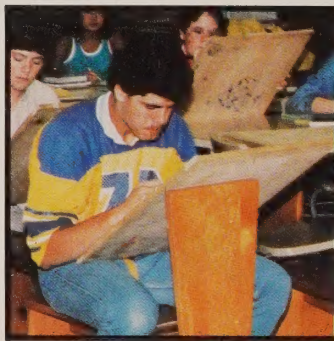

KALEIDOSCOPE — a tube-shaped toy containing loose bits of colored glass or other small objects which are reflected by a set of mirrors as a series of continually changing patterns when the tube is held to the eye and turned.

There could be no more fitting symbol for the high school experience than the Kaleidoscope. Continual change is the very heart of the Kaleidoscope and the very essence of school life. We are the bits and pieces that make up the colorful design in the Kaleidoscope of school activity. Each of us spends a brief moment in the design and then moves on to become a part of the reflection we recall as the memory of our time at Hopewell High.

Straddling the drawing horse, Randy Okum concentrates on the details of his still life.

With a look of determination, Matt High struggles to the finish line.

Driving down the court, Crystal Live-ly attempts to avoid the defense.

Mirrored Images

A kaleidoscope and a camera have one thing in common and that is the use of a mirror to reflect an image. The mirror in a kaleidoscope reflects the tiny particles of glass and through this reflection an unusual pattern is created. The mirror in a camera reflects the image onto the viewfinder and this image is engraved on the film. When the yearbook staff decided to choose the kaleidoscope as the theme for the sixty-second volume of the school's annual, this choice began to expand as the meaning of the word was considered. It is quite appropriate that the theme and the instrument by which we carry out the theme have a common denominator. The mirror of the camera casts reflections on the film and these pictures that are chosen are a part of the reflections which make up the annual. These pictures when assembled create the patterns and these patterns are seen on page after page. The mirror of the camera and the mirror of the kaleidoscope both create memorable patterns which can be enjoyed for many years.

"It's merely a way to wake people up" or "carry people away," says Tonya Bradley.

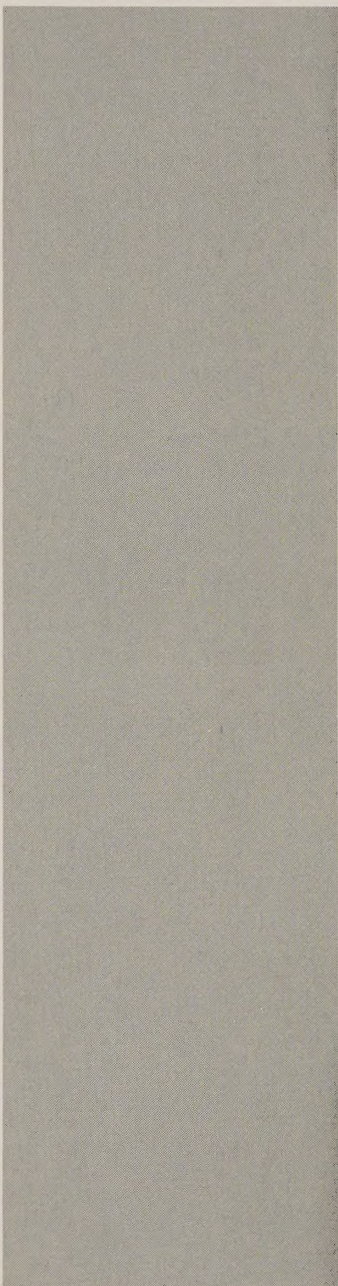

Following through, Pam Cutrona makes a pass.

Concentrating on the game, John "Boz" Ruis waits to return to the action.

Lunch break gives Laurie Full time to quench her thirst and prepare for the afternoon classes.

"Instruments in position, eyes up front," orders Carol Creech as she prepares the marching band for a halftime performance.

Changing Patterns

Just as a kaleidoscope changes the patterns as the cylinder is turned, students change and assume different roles throughout the school day.

Students spend their day going from class to class adapting to the changes as they meet each teacher and meet the expectations in each classroom. These changes may vary from the structured lecture type class to the informal atmosphere such as an art or vocational class.

When the school day comes to an end the patterns again change and the students assume new roles. These roles may take on the shape of a fan at the football game, the leader of the band, or a fast food chef at the local McDonald's. The changes that take place are a part of the pattern that completes the design.

Freshman class sponsor, Mrs. Ruth Harkrader, shows her delight in receiving the spirit stick on behalf of the class of 1990.

After a long school day, Terry Hartsell gives friends a ride home.

Trying his skill with the stereoscope is sophomore Mike Bradsher.

Creative Turns

The Kaleidoscope, which was invented in 1817 by Sir David Brewster, has been used for many years by designers who wish to create new patterns for carpets, wall papers and various textile patterns. The varied patterns that can be obtained by turning the cylinder are unlimited and as the cylinder moves the viewer can experience numerous visual delights. As the pages of the 1987 Kaleidoscope are turned the viewer can also enjoy a number of visual experiences. The photographs which are included throughout this book and the captions that accent these photographs make up a number of varied patterns. In moving from page to page and from section to section, the viewer experiences varied and interesting visual delights. These delights are in the form of memories, successes and failures, fun times and sad times. These experiences create changes in mood just as a kaleidoscope when turned creates visual changes for the viewer. These experiences create emotional moments that the viewer will enjoy and treasure for years to come.

Concentrating hard, Robin Eldridge works on an in-class assignment.

A Night in Camelot

The past was theirs, the future is ours. This undeniable statement greeted the juniors and seniors as they entered the world of Camelot on Saturday, May 17, 1986, the evening of the prom. For a few hours, Hopewell High School students became the lords and ladies of the realm. Images of knights in shining armor on the field of battle and damsels in distress were evoked by the elaborate decorations provided by the more industrious members of the Junior class.

Countless hours of preparation went into construction of a castle, bridge, and maypoles at the home of Robert Leong weeks before they were transported to Leadbetter Gymnasium to help achieve the miraculous transformation. Even a rigging crew from Fort Lee lent their experience in attaching a huge parachute to the ceiling of the gym. Every moment invested in this most major of projects was well worth the effort. The desired effect was unforgettable.

Part of the gym was the scene of a candlelight banquet hall to complete the courtly picture. Prom King Ricky Nicely and Queen Tina Strong reigned over an evening of dance and entertainment provided by Casper. The temporary subjects of the royal couple danced through the evening hours as "A Night In Camelot" became a night to remember.

Reigning over their court as King and Queen for the evening are Ricky Nicely and Tina Strong.

Ruffles, flowers, bow ties, and smiles are part of the official attire for the evening.

The Lords and Ladies of the Junior and Senior classes dance the night away.

Working on early preparations for the prom are Kenny Balint, Tonya Bradley, and Tiffany Bradley.

The Final Turn

Lightning, rain, wind, and rolling clouds marked the night of June 12th when graduation exercises were scheduled to take place. The event was to be held at Merner Field, the scene of graduation for a number of years.

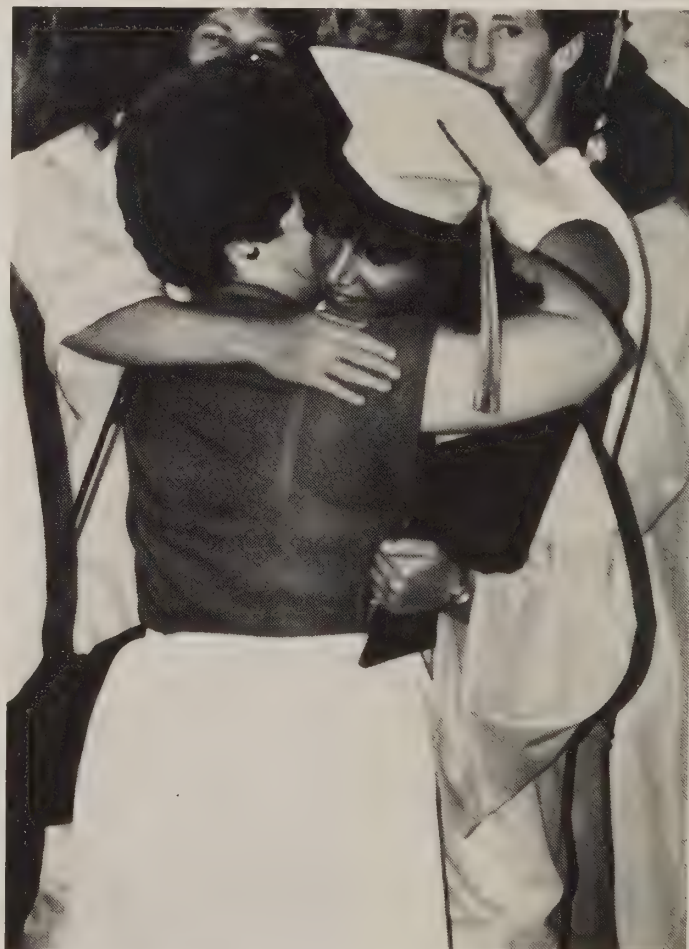

Faculty, seniors, families, and friends were concerned that at the last moment the program would have to be moved into Leadbetter Gymnasium, but in record time the tassels were switched, the diplomas awarded, and the Class of '86 was history.

Holding their mortarboards, the Class of '86 proceeds to the platform for graduation.

A congratulatory hug is exchanged between friends, Bill Scott and Mr. Cardin.

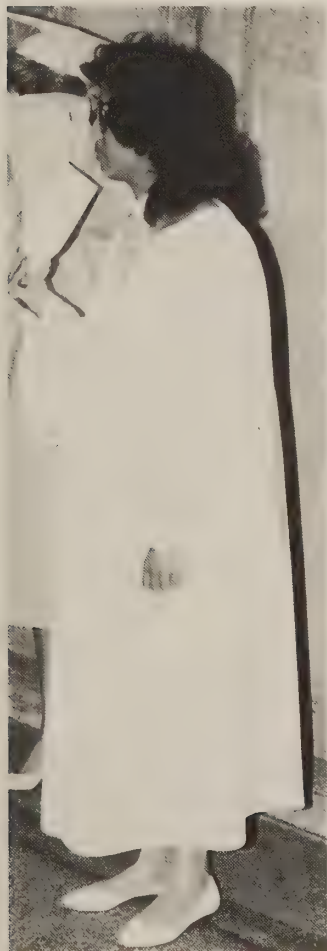

Sharing a moment never to be forgotten are Billie Jo Burnham and her mother.

With lightning dancing overhead, band members give that extra spark to their musical selections.

Inclement weather calls for makeshift rainwear for friends and family.

Junior Honor Marshal Shannon Teasley awaits the signal to lead the Class of '86 forward.

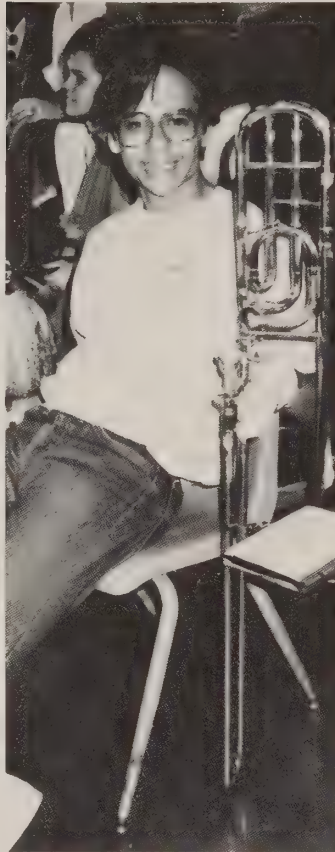

The dream of graduation is realized by Carl Brown, and the familiar sight of the "Blue Mule" becomes another memory at H.H.S.

Getting ready to play the trombone at the Seniors' last pep rally is Mike Cancino.

Proving that sophomores also have spirit is Doug Coward, modeling an award winning hat for "Hat Day."

Seniors, Seniors, What's Your Cry! V-i-c-t-o-r-y

Seniors swept spirit week and Homecoming festivities as they won all of the awards available. Buying 4,087 spirit links, receiving the spirit stick at the pep rally, and winning first place in the Homecoming parade float contest is ample proof that seniors truly have lots of s-c-h-o-o-l s-p-i-r-i-t.

After hours of work the senior float is ready to make its grand entrance onto the football field.

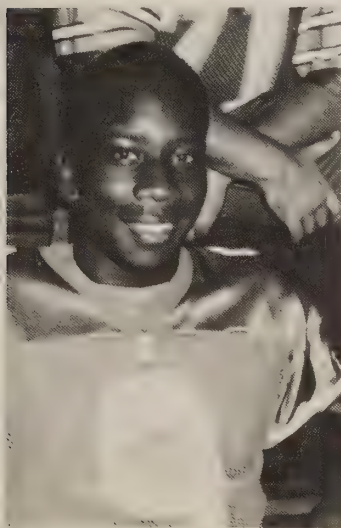

Hoping to pick up a few pointers, Stacie Pardew anxiously watches the Varsity Cheerleaders.

Seeing double on "Hat and Sunglasses Day" is James Barnes.

"Abe" didn't have anything on the Building and Trades Club when their log cabin float took the field.

Relaxing before the big game is Greg Daniels, the star quarterback for H.H.S.

Trying to encourage students to have fun without alcohol, Students Against Drunk Driving also entered a float in the Homecoming parade.

The marching regiment tunes up before the pep rally.

A Blue and Gold Celebration

Homecoming is always an exciting event to look forward to in the fall of the year. Students that attend H.H.S. participate in the special events planned for Spirit Week, which precedes Homecoming. Alumni both near and far await the Friday night football game and the renewing of acquaintances with seldom seen friends.

H.H.S. Homecoming was no less special this year. For the second year, clubs and classes competed in a float contest and the Homecoming Court rode in open cars before the crowded Hopewell stands. Halftime festivities brought the special event to a climax with the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Didi McClaskie. The H.H.S. Marching Regiment played a tribute to the court; pom pon and flag squads added to the festivities, and all were excited with the celebration. The weather was right, the court members were beautiful, the floats carried out the theme "Back In Time," but the football team went down in defeat to the Cavaliers of John Marshall, Central District Champions.

Looking jovial are three members of the Senior Homecoming Court: Krista Flowers, Didi McClaskie, and Sandy Blaha.

Overjoyed at being chosen Homecoming Queen of 1986 is Didi McClaskie.

Being escorted across the field by her father, George Sisson, is Ginger Sisson, representative for the Sophomore Class.

Moving down the field with the Marching Regiment is drummer Kevin Teasley.

"Bursting through" are the mighty Blue Devils of HHS.

Chosen by the Freshman Class as one of their representatives, Helen Powroznick is escorted by her father, Anthony Powroznick.

Smiling enthusiastically is the Junior Class Homecoming Court: Kim Armstrong, Frances Scardami, and Monicue Daniels.

Watching the game apprehensively is varsity cheerleader, Kim Whitlock.

Sitting this one out, Larry Walker and Holly Sutphin enjoy each other's company.

This Could Be the Nite

The Freshman class comes to the hallowed halls of Hopewell High unorganized, confused, and generally out of sync with those who refer to themselves as upperclassmen. The first semester of the freshman year finds the ninth grade class attempting to develop a strong class tradition that will follow the class through to their senior year. While electing officers and planning fundraisers the class begins to draw together as a unit. By the second semester, the freshman class is well on its way to becoming a force to be reckoned with.

As the freshman year draws to a close, the freshmen make plans for the highlight of their first year by planning, decorating, and attending the Freshman Dance. This dance is unique in that for many of those attending, this is their first formal. As the Freshmen and their dates arrive they find the cafeteria decorated in a festive manner, the D.J. playing the latest tunes and the refreshment table laden with food. Dancing, eating and enjoying each other's company signifies the unity that this class has built from their first September days at H.H.S.

As the band plays a slow song, the crowded dance floor brings couples together.

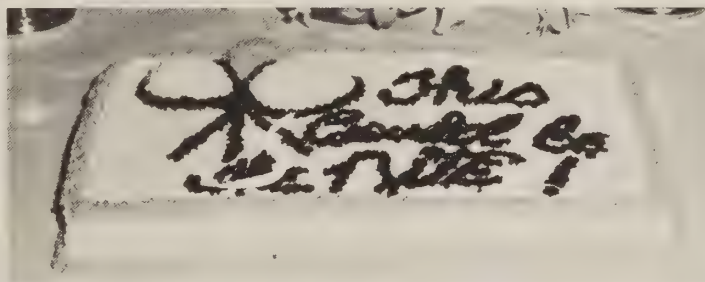

Serving punch to the thirsty dancers are Freshman parents.

Choosing a packet of pictures is a difficult task for Angela Blackwell and Eric Warner.

Sweets for the sweet are provided for the members of the class of 1989.

Class sponsor, Mrs. Pettler and Vincent Indelicato wait for refreshments to be served.

Closeness is definitely in for Jesse Collins and his date, Debbie Nieznany.

An Evening "Star"

"The Stars Came Out" in the Hopewell High auditorium when members of the Junior Class presented the annual Miss Hopewell High School pageant. Forty junior girls ran for the title and Miss Candy Blinn came away wearing the crown.

This pageant is held to raise money for the Junior Senior Prom and through the money raised, the juniors are able to provide the seniors with a night they can remember. Before the night of the contest, juniors spend hours preparing for the event. Local retailers are secured as sponsors, programs are typed and printed, decorations are constructed, and gifts are bought. Before the curtain goes up, hours have been given by Junior Class members and their sponsors to make this event an enjoyable one for the audience.

As the girls present themselves to the patrons, they try to put their best foot forward and make a good impression. Many participants are quite nervous, but as the audience receives them warmly, they begin to enjoy the event. Each contestant is "teaching for the Stars" and realizing that through her participation the Junior Class will be able to host a successful spring dance.

Tracy Lerner, Susan and Susan were awarded in Candy Blinn, Miss H.H.S. 1985.

Each couple seems to be in their own world as they enjoy a romantic dance.

A moment of surprise is shared as Monicue Daniels crowns Torrey Hill Sophomore Sweetheart for 1987.

Sharing conversation with other class members are Michelle Duesberry and her date, Ernest Hughes.

Class sponsor, Mrs. Jayne Pettler and Sophomore Tiffany Byrd relax and enjoy the festivities of the evening.

February 14, 1987 St. Valentine's Day

What better evening to plan the Sophomore Dance than on Cupid's night? St. Valentine's Day has been known as the day of love and romance for hundreds of years and on this day couples seem to always come a little closer and enjoy being together in a special way. Flowers are exchanged, cards of endearment are given and special thoughts are shared.

The Sophomore Dance of 1987 held on February 14th in the school dining room kept with the Valentine theme of hearts and flowers. Sophomores transformed the cafeteria into a festive room of pink, red and white hearts. Balloons and hearts adorned the tables and a backdrop of winter trees was used to accent the pictures taken of each couple. Sophomores and their dates enjoyed an evening of good music, good company and a special feeling that only comes once a year — St. Valentine's Day.

A special feeling is enjoyed by Sophomore Elizabeth Terry and her escort.

Table talk is exchanged by Charles Gilliam and Tawnya Hayes.

Class sponsor Mrs. Mary Cleotelis, principal Mr. Steve Staples, and eleventh grade counselor Mrs. Kathy Burrow prepare to distribute rings to the class of 1988.

A Ringing Event

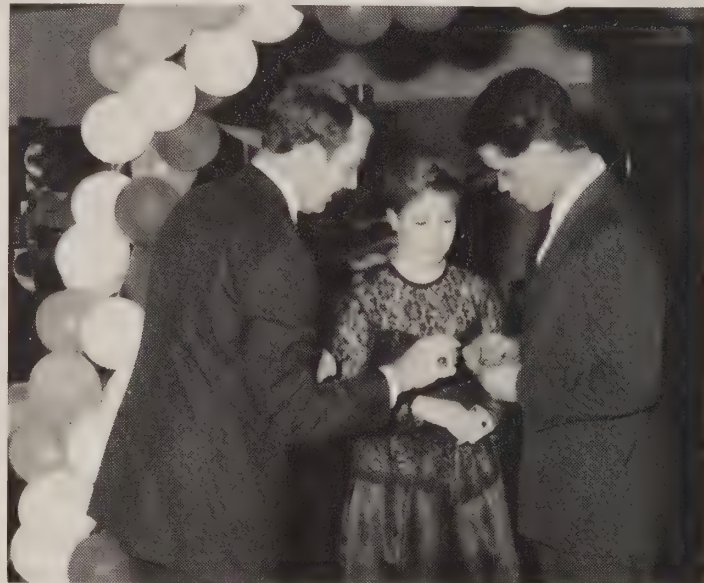

The receiving of class rings is always a special time for juniors. This is one of a number of events which lead directly to graduation. This symbol in the form of a ring is quite special because those alumni that wear rings and those that are to receive rings in the future have a common bond.

Ring Dance 1986 was significant because for the two preceding years the juniors had not held a dance.

The Class of '88 wanted to mark this event with a special evening and on October eleventh the ring dance was held in the school cafeteria. Mr. Staples, principal, Mrs. Burrow, class counselor, and dates assisted juniors in the receiving of their rings. The juniors shared this excitement and in keeping with the "turning" tradition rings were turned eighty-eight times for luck and a wish for the future.

A moment of distraction captures Francis Scardami and Chad Kern.

Receiving her ring from her date and Mr. Staples is Laura Anne Royster.

Class guidance counselor Mrs. Kathy Burrow introduces the excited class ring recipients.

Words of wisdom are expounded by David Webster as his date Tracy Mayer looks on with adoration.

A dance break finds Shelley Malone and Steven Prater in friendly conversation with Brian Boyette.

"With this ring" Mr. Staples pronounces Michelle Gibbs an official member of the Junior Class.

Smiles by Jenny Daniels and her date are a part of the 1986 Ring Dance.

Looking Back

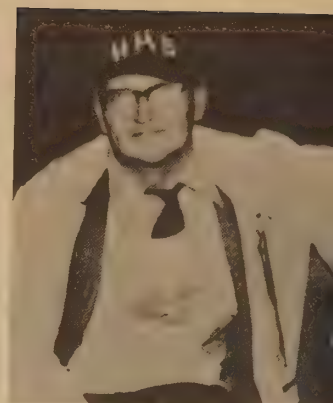

Over 20 Years

Spirit of H.H.S. 1968-87

Adjusting the frightful Devil mask is Chris Dalton, the school's 1985-86 mascot.

A strong Blue Devil supporter and loyal friend, Jimmy Covington has been a familiar face at H.H.S. sporting events for over two decades.

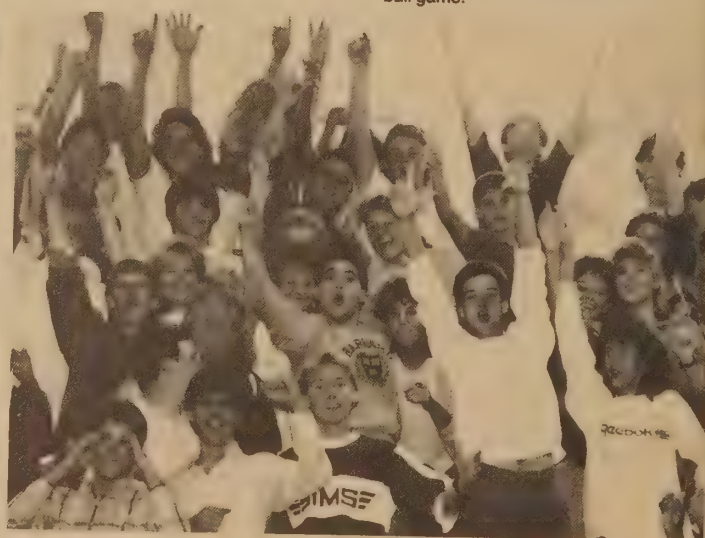

Senior circles from 1984 and 1971 show that school spirit continues from year to year.

Before fire regulations became so stringent, H.H.S. fans enjoyed the traditional bonfire that was held before the Hopewell-Petersburg football game.

Cheerleaders from 1968 celebrate a victory after an all important game.

H.H.S. is ALWAYS #1!

The graduating class of 1985 anxiously awaits the turning of the tassels.

The H.H.S. band enjoys participating in a number of school functions, one of which are the organized pep rallies.

A Devilish smile is given by Sherry Stallings, the school mascot for 1971-72.

The painted face of Dawn Rackley was seen at many 1986 basketball games.

Spirit Never Dies

Spirit is something which cannot be touched but can definitely be felt. Spirit should be the driving force which supplies the energy that keeps a high school alive and running. We tend to experience a great surge of spirit when we win that all important basketball game by one free throw after time has expired on the clock, but if you have ever been excited about earning a 100 on an Algebra II test, being invited to a SCA luncheon because of dramatic improvement in classroom behavior, or approving a perfect research plan, then you have experienced SPIRIT. Perhaps those who say there is no school spirit at H.H.S. simply do not know how to recognize it.

The Colonials are obviously being stopped by the mighty Devil on a 1973 Homecoming float.

They Never Die, They Just . . . Become Teachers!

"Old Hopewell High students never die, they just . . ." become teachers! H.H.S. boasts thirteen alumni of the past twenty years as members of the current teaching staff. When these people became H.H.S. graduates, thoughts of actually teaching at their alma mater may have been remote, but they have since returned to their old haunts. Now these former students pass on acquired knowledge to a new generation. A quarterback of the past coaches today, high school business students have become teachers of business, a former chess champion now sponsors the Chess Club, and a one-time student scorekeeper keeps the clock at today's basketball games. Thus continuity is maintained from the past to the present and perhaps into the future as well.

Fads and Fashion

Whether it be in the 60's, 70's, or 80's, fashion and fads always seem to be an important part of school. Students are concerned about their appearance and many hours are spent looking through popular fashion magazines and trying out the latest trends. Students often put more time on what they are going to wear to school rather than the homework assignment which should have first priority.

It is fun to walk the halls of H.H.S. and see the choices of apparel that adorn the members of the student body. It is said that fashions and trends repeat themselves about every twenty years and as we look back through the last twenty years we see fashions that have come and gone only to return again in a new and interesting way.

Short skirts and long hair were appropriate in the early 70's when Becky Irving and Jeff Wells attended school conventions.

Tracie Gorkiewicz's moussed hair is accented with playful horns.

A partially shaved head like that of Gina Lombardo is becoming a popular hair style for the extremely fadish.

JAMS worn by Rachael Kimbrell were popular in school for three days in the spring of '86 until the administration decided they were o.k. for the beach but not for school.

Platform shoes of the early 70's were popular among the fellows, especially the short fellows.

Creative sweaters like the one worn by Mary Patterson were as popular in the 70's as they are today.

Bell bottom pants worn by Anmarie Nementz in 1973 have yet to make a comeback on the fashion scene.

Student Life at H.H.S.

Up at 6:00 or 6:15 or on slow mornings 6:30 a.m. Rolling out of bed, pulling on the jeans and sweater, raking the brush through the hair, and when time permits, a bowl of "Frosted Flakes" as one rushes out the door to school.

This scene occurs over and over in households all over America and the city of Hopewell is no exception. Students have faced the school day, for over twenty years with a number of things on their mind. Has homework been completed? Do I have my lunch? I wonder if the gang is going to the Soc Hop Friday night? Many things clutter the hours of H.H.S. students.

Morning hours deal out academic classes with which to struggle. Because of busy schedules and heavy loads, more often than not, lunch and class changes are the only times that gossip can be exchanged. After school, there are many options as to what to do. Some choose to play a sport such as football, or tennis, while others opt for clubs. For some, the choice might mean going home to watch TV or going to work. Weeknights are monopolized by homework, while weekends are reserved for Soc Hops and parties. Before long, the seemingly endless process beings again, and it's up at 6:00 or 6:15...

Enjoying themselves as they dance to the music of the "Premiers" are Margo Wright and Jimmy Fore. (1968)

During class change, students step outside for a quick breath of fresh air. (1986)

With a sign of relief, members of Mr. Hayes' Advanced Chemistry class turn in their Science Fair papers. (1987)

While waiting to return to class from a fire drill, students take time to chat with friends. (1986)

Strutting their stuff at the 1984 Sophomore Sweetheart Dance are Patti Sumner and Toby Stanley.

That's What Friends Are For

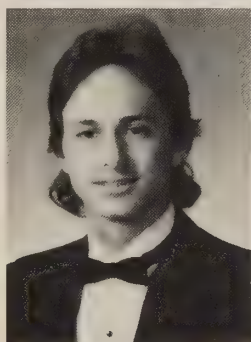

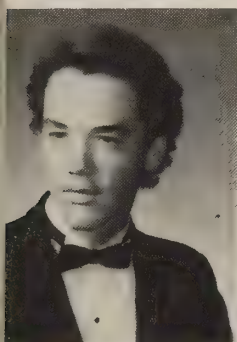

Friendship is an important item to most students at H.H.S. Having a friend to laugh with or to confide a secret with is special to a high school student. Gossiping in the halls, eating lunch together, helping with homework, and sharing lockers are common things among friends. Most people become friends with others because they have the same views or interests, or also have the same style of clothing or jargon. Some friendships that begin in high school may even last for a lifetime.

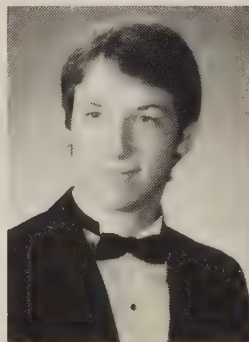

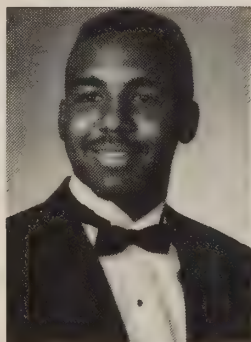

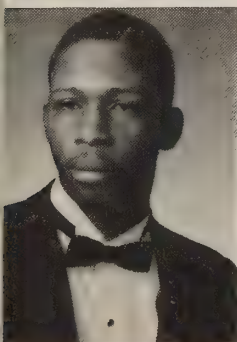

Enjoying a few minutes between classes are close friends Terri Wynn, Sonya Rollins, Katrina Pettaway, and Maggie Delane.

Government student, Julie Smith, gives a subtle reaction to one of Mr. Whipp's Friday News Quizzes.

Papers! Papers! Papers!

Research! Research! Research! The quest for knowledge is an age old characteristic of man, but to seniors at HHS the quest has become a burden that they did not prepare themselves to face. After their junior year, seniors thought research papers would be a thing of the past, at least until college years, but not so for 1986-87.

The new administration decided that more research and writing were in order for all grades including seniors. Seniors are now faced with preparing a paper in English, Social Studies, and Science. Other subjects also have the option of a paper and seniors may face a great deal of writing before graduation exercises. For a class that thought the end was coming near without too much work, they now realize that work is in order to receive the sheepskin in June.

Boys' Night Out!

Taking a break from the hustle and bustle of everyday school life is Robbie Farris.

"Partying Hard" is the main priority of most guys that attend HHS. Come the end of the week all they want to know is "what's up this weekend" whether it be a party, cruising down the boulevard, or seeking out "x-rated" entertainment.

Even though "partying" seems to be the number one choice to most teenage boys, there are those who do attempt to occupy their weekend time a little more constructively. Part time jobs, working on the "wheels," or playing "shirts and skins" can while away the hours.

The bomb threat was a signal for Scott Martin to kick off his shoes, sit back, and relax.

The Day's Been a Blast!!!

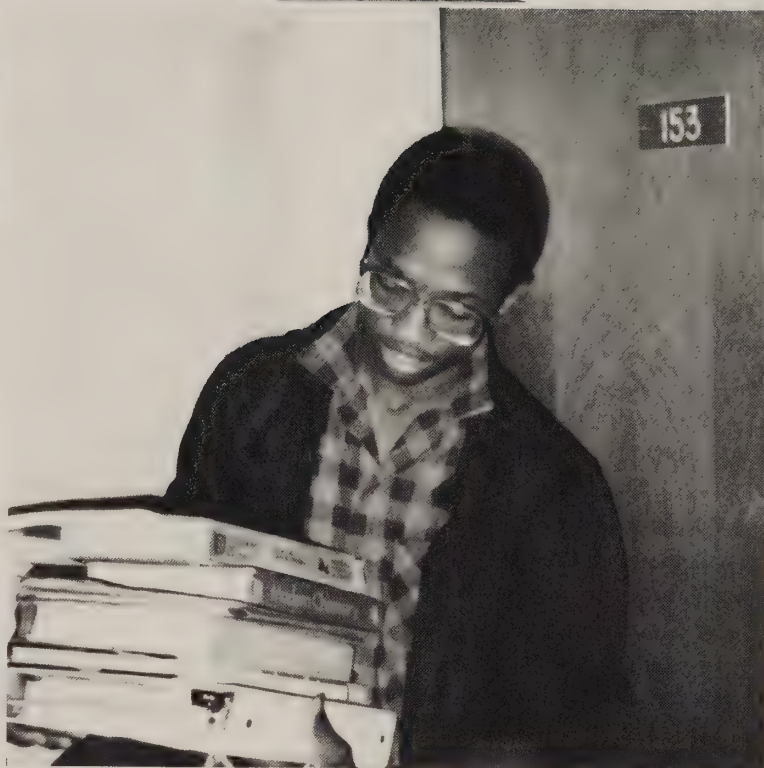

Every year the school is responsible for having at least one fire drill per month. Many students feel that this is just a chance to play around and to visit with friends that exit from their assigned door. Fire drills seem to always interrupt a classroom activity for at least five minutes, but when a fire drill turns into a bomb threat students can prepare for a lengthy stay.

On occasion a prankster will call the school and suggest that a bomb has been planted on the grounds. Just such an event occurred on the grounds Oct. 7th, 1986. Students enjoyed the bright sunshiney day visiting with faculty and classmates as the police and Channel 8 TV News covered the event. For 25 minutes students watched, waited, and relaxed until the signal was given that all was well and classes could resume.

Making the Most of 6 Minutes

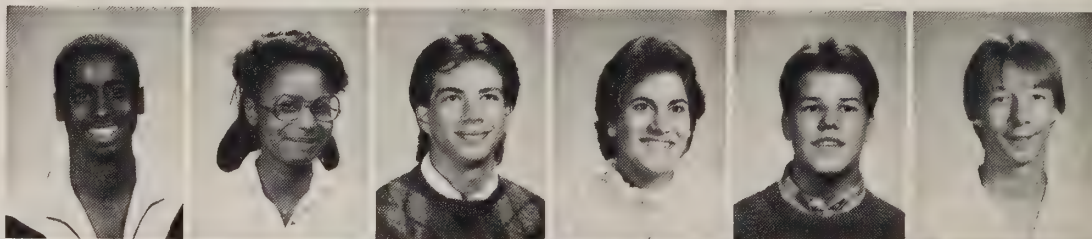

Even with six minutes between classes this year, many find that they still can't make it to their locker and to class on time. Some people try to solve this problem by carrying their books for their first three classes and returning to their locker for a second load of books for the afternoon session.

A more popular approach to solving the book problem is to share lockers with friends. English and Social Studies classes are located on the second floor, so many attempt to coerce a senior into sharing a locker. A student on the science hall finds a friendly junior's locker to carry the load and those with business classes latch on to an agreeable sophomore. The only class that does not seem to be hounded by someone wanting to share a locker is the Freshman Class. Their lockers are located in such out-of-the-way places that no one cares!

After Hours

When the bell rings at 2:45, most people rush to change and prepare for an afternoon of rest and relaxation. If you choose to spend your leisure time at school, it may culminate in a girls' hockey game or a girls' or boys' tennis match. If you choose not to spend your leisure time at school, you could go home and sleep, watch soap operas, or talk on the telephone. For those who have a little more energy, an afterschool job or a household chore might be the way to spend an afterschool afternoon.

Enjoying the later afternoon sun as well as an afternoon field hockey game are Patrick Bransford and Mike Hughes.

Skaters Keep Things Rolling

Performing a "boneless" is Jamie Dunn.

From the sandy beaches of California to the crowded halls of Hopewell High School, an everlasting pastime evolves into an international craze. Webster defines skating as "roller skating" or as "steel runners fitted to a shoe for gliding on ice," but these original individuals at HHS have brought forth a new meaning to the word "skating." Hours are spent each day after school and on weekends practicing "grinds," "finger flips," and "drop ins." Skaters often stand out in a crowd. They are easily recognized by their Converse shoes, radical clothing, and interesting hairstyles. This is definitely becoming a fad that will not soon leave the HHS students' memory.

Making Choices

By the sophomore year, students begin to make choices in extra-curricular interests. Sometimes a sophomore will choose to join a career-oriented club, such as FBLA or VICA, or to experience learning a foreign culture by being in the Spanish, French, or Latin club. Many girls enjoy trying out for the flag squad or J.V. cheering team. A favorite among the male sophomores is playing on the J.V. football team.

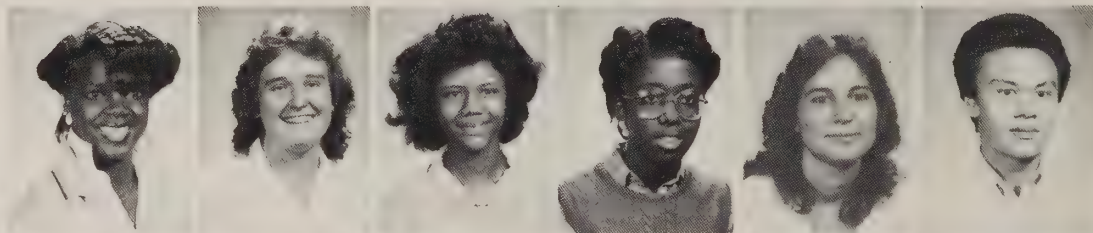

Dissect — Not Bisect

For many sophomores biology class is the first experience they have in a science lab. During the first semester the students study the parts of the microscope and learning the cell process. But in the second semester biology classes will dissect earthworms, crayfish, and end with a grand finale, the ever popular dissection of the "Frog." Biology classes may put some sophomores on edge, but for the majority biology is a unique experience that leaves the student wanting more.

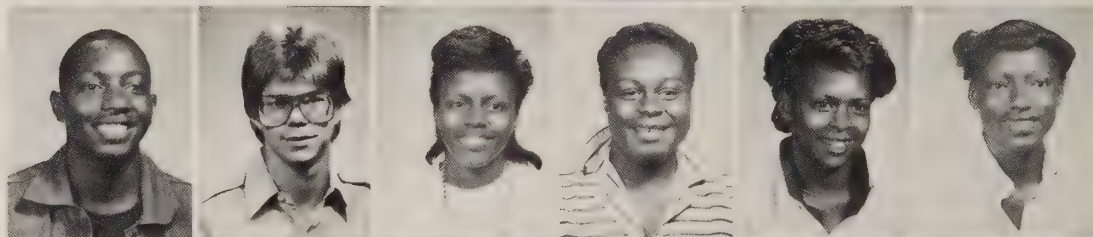

An unknowing Marcy Woodruff is prepared for the new experience of going to the science lab.

“Rounders” Keeps P.E. Classes Lively

Physical Education Class: to some a time to relax and to others a chore. P.E. class begins in the ninth grade and by the 10th, the student knows the familiar routine of dressing out. Softball, basketball and the always challenging volleyball are among the sports played in class. These sports cause a great deal of physical contact as well as physical pain if you are not in shape. Sophomores strive to play hard, and satisfy the requirements in physical education so that hopefully they can enjoy two years of high school without dressing out and encountering the “ozone” layer of the locker room.

A game of rounders is played by a coed physical education class.

Projector in place, Ginger Sisson wonders whether she will be chosen to turn the frames.

Projecting

Audio-Visual Aids are used by many teachers to introduce, emphasize and re-emphasize a part of a lesson. Filmstrips are the most popular form of AV materials and students seem to be excited when they come into the room and find the projector set in place.

Students are not always excited for the right reason, however! Some find when the projector comes on it is time to catch a few Z-Z-Z-Z's. Others try to catch up on classwork or homework and others just daydream for awhile. The teacher realizes that on occasion students take advantage of the filmstrip time and therefore takes precautions to see that the students pay attention. Often times a questionnaire concerning the filmstrip is given or a quiz is given after the film. This seems to always keep the eyes turned towards the screen and thought in gear.

New Combinations

Coming from junior high to the halls of Hopewell High, freshmen have had to change from half lockers to tall lockers. No more leaning down or bumping your head on the locker above you. Now instead of keeping up with your keys you will have to memorize your combination number. Some freshmen may be thinking is it 20 to the right, 15 to the left and 31 to the right, or maybe 20 to the left, 15 to the right and 31 to the left. Before the year is over freshmen will finally be masters of memory.

J.V. and Varsity cheerleaders lead the incoming freshmen around the H.H.S. building.

This Is the Way We Go to School . . .

Before the beginning of a new school term, an orientation day is held for the new students and up-coming freshmen to the high school. This orientation enables the students to learn and cope with the hustle and bustle of high school life. After the orientation, students are given a tour of the H.H.S. building by students of the school who know their way around. The tour helps to lessen some confusion for these students on their first day of school.

Stand By Me

It never hurts to have friends in high places — Carol Creech offers support to freshman Mike Hughes.

Each year a new class of freshmen enters the halls of H.H.S. These students are faced with a new school, new teachers, and many new people. However, as the year progresses, they are befriended by a number of the "Old-Guard" who look out for them. By the end of the year, the freshmen, who started out in the fall needing as much guidance and help as they could get, are ready for the next year and another Freshman Class who will need their support.

What the Well Dressed Student Will Not Wear

A dress code has been put in full force for the 86-87 school year. Freshmen and upperclassmen that have become accustomed to wearing hats, shades, and questionable T-shirts have had to change their way of dressing. Students must remove hats in the building and must wear shirts that cover their midriff. Sunglasses may not be worn in the building and even when the weather is warm "no shorts" or "mini-skirts" will be allowed.

The dress code has not been broken by Gayle Steininger and Kim Cooper — they are on their way to tennis practice.

Friendships among freshman girls like Angie Monteith, Kim Cooper, Serena Corbett, Barbara Gilbride, and Robin Phillips grow stronger as the school year passes by.

Friendships Remain True Blue

In any high school career, the freshman year is almost always the hardest. Many friends who have never been separated suddenly have no classes together. Meeting in the halls may be the only time you see your best friend. If you are lucky, you and a few friends may be in lunch together. Sharing lockers is one way to see each other more often, but this also creates problems. Books and notebooks are never where you need them, and forget about trying to keep your locker neat! Being a freshman is hard, but there's always next year.

Catch that Devil Spirit!

Devil spirit at Hopewell High School is proven in miscellaneous ways. Not only do students support the Devils, teachers do too. They faithfully attend football and basketball games, both home and away. Teachers can often be seen wearing blue and gold on game days, which all goes to show that they, too, back the Devils all the way!

Teachers Roxanne Burnley, Brenda Lee, and Barbara Strongin help boost Devil spirit at a pep rally.

Life after three

Students tend to think of teachers as one dimensional beings who have no life other than the hours spent at HHS. Yes, students, there really is life after 3:00 p.m. Contrary to popular opinion, even administrators have interests and abilities other than those that students observe first hand at school.

Principal Steve Staples demonstrates another of his talents as a volunteer referee at the pre-season Basketball Jamboree held at Prince George High School.

Principal Steve Staples pauses for a moment ostensibly to tie his shoe, but perhaps he is stealing a moment to catch his breath as well.

ACADEMIC Life

Scientifically Proceeding

For the first time in many years, the Science Department has added two new words to its vocabulary — Science Fair. There have been many ways in which these two words have been used depending on point of view. All science classes are learning together just what goes into the production of this new phenomenon. Teachers and students alike have found that the process involves much more than meets the eye. From TOPIC through HYPOTHESIS and EXPERIMENTATION to the finished product much has been learned about exactly what it takes to be scientists.

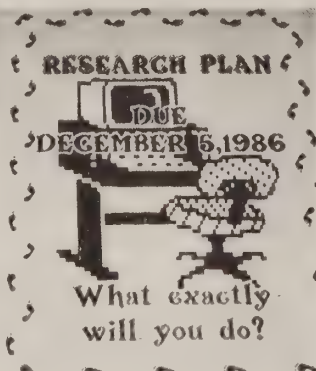

In deep discussion about moles and other hairy chemistry matters are David Webster and Jim Nash.

One of the highlights of the year in biology class is the dissection of the frog, enjoyed by Stephanie Davis.

In an afternoon meeting of the newly reactivated Science Club, Stephanie Mason and Lawanda Moore become "Dentists for a Day" with the help of Dr. Alan Bridge, husband of sponsor Esther Bridge.

One of the stages of the development of the Science Fair Project is the famous, or infamous if you will, RESEARCH PLAN.

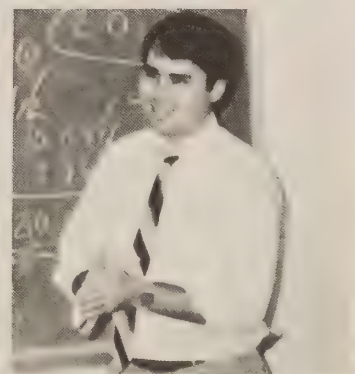

Science Department

Deep concentration is not an absolute requirement for making dental impressions, but it does seem to help Sam Dobbs in his efforts.

One of the fringe benefits of the long awaited frog dissection in the spring of each school year is the epicurean delight known as "FROG ON A BUN" (with secret formaldehyde sauce) sampled by Ginger Pearson.

Rubbing his hands together with delight, Mr. Hayes explains one of the secrets of the chemist.

The backboard design is but one phase of the total picture when it comes to the Science Fair.

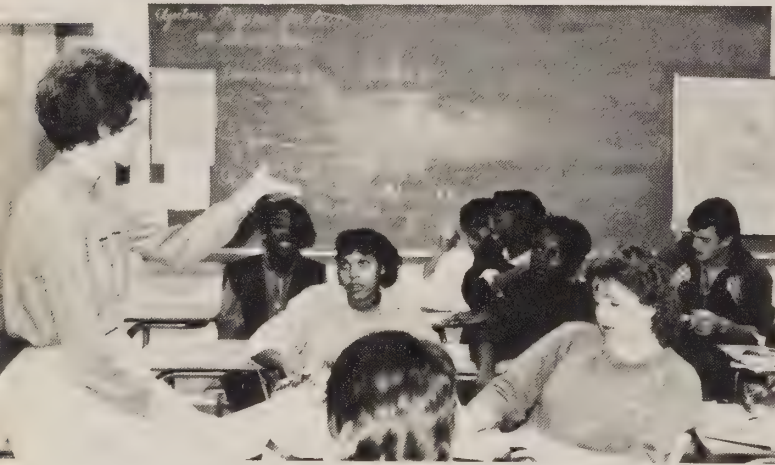

The Socially Sociable

A Colgate smile is given by Bonnie Messer to all her fellow classmates in World "G."

Department head, Mr. Frank Whipp searches diligently for the social studies "key" to the copier.

World Geography teacher, Mrs. Julia Bouck, reviews the class for a test on atmosphere.

Delivering one of his many U.S. History lectures, Bill Demet captures the attention of his fellow classmates.

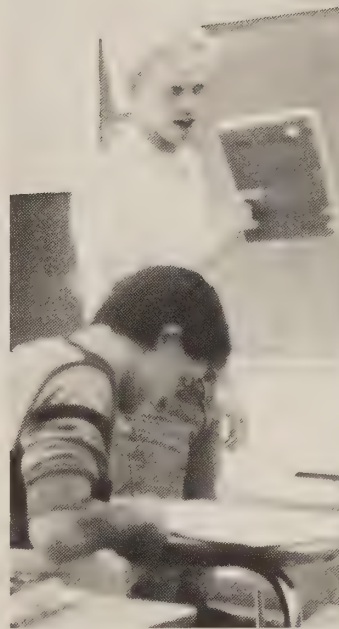

Banding together to solve world problems in Mr. Broner's Sociology class are Jennifer Malcom and Stephanie Earls.

Social Studies

Making choices in a democratic manner, Seniors Steve Johnson and Glen Tanner obviously believe in the pursuit of happiness.

A last minute review of today's news is shared between Brian Medeiros and Chris Neal before Whipp's quiz.

The Social Studies Department is composed of nine unique educators who present their subject in nine unique and informative ways. Because of physical plant rearrangements, the Social Studies Department was divided between floors. The members began referring to themselves as the Upstairs Social Studies Department and the Downstairs Social Studies Department. A playful rivalry now exists between department members to see who can perform their duties more efficiently and who can capture the hearts of their socially oriented classes.

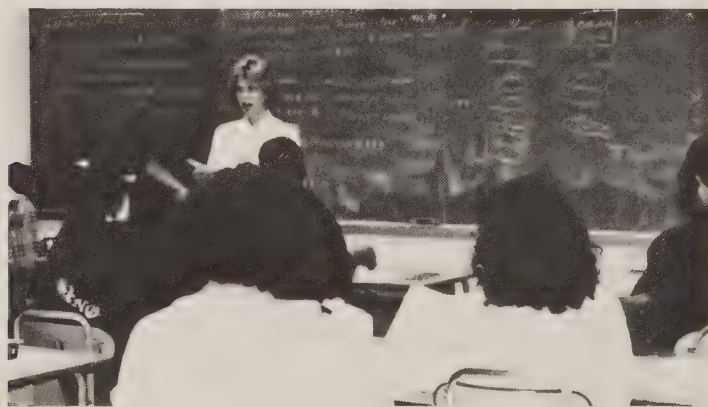

Hobnobbing with the rich and famous are Juniors Jim Nash and March Altman.

"Do you know us?" (Darrin Jones and Claudia Tuttle). "We never leave home without our Magruder's American Government text."

Busily Bustling

Smiling jubilantly are Dawn Frink and Jennifer Edwards.

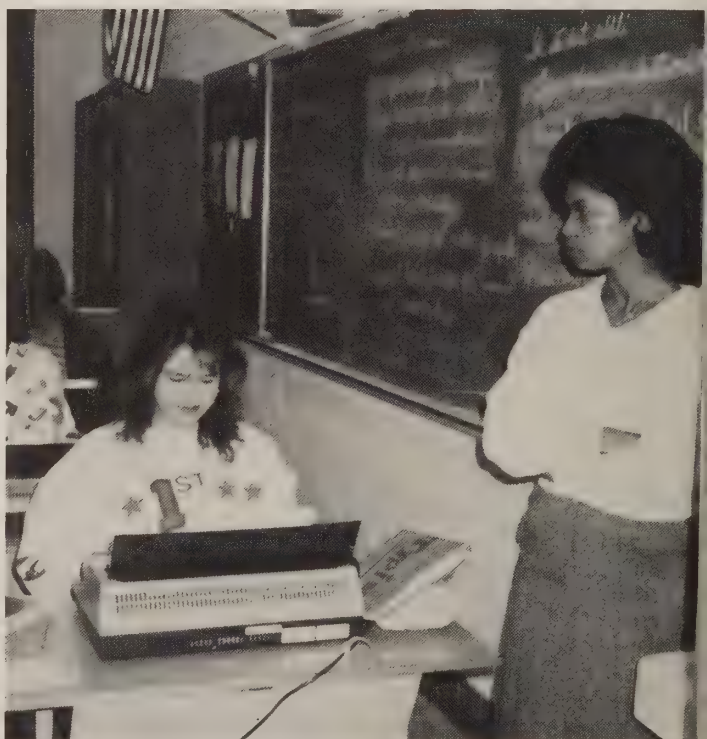

The basic fundamentals of accounting are being taught by Mrs. Stallings to her captive audience.

Typing their fingers to the bone are Marcy Parris and Dawn Marie Noel.

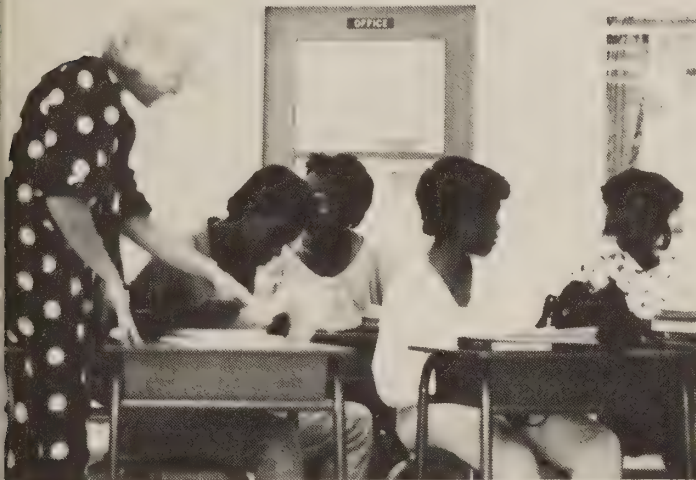

Looking at your hands is a "no-no," unbeknown to Charles Morriss.

Mrs. Johnson observes Joanne Bronson working diligently on her typing skills.

Business Department

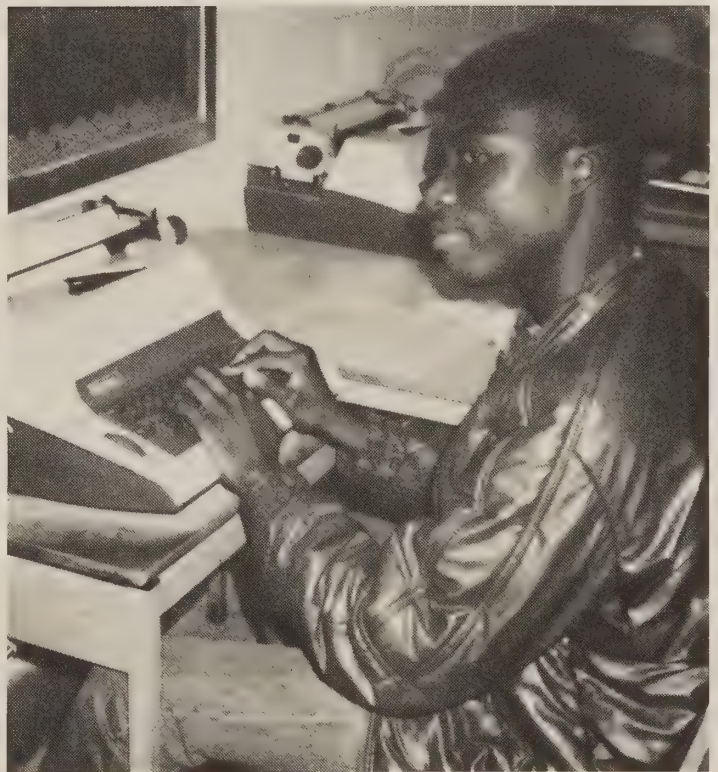

Going over work with Minell Sholson is Miss French.

Paper! Paper! Paper! Typewriting paper! Computer paper! Accounting sheets are various types of paper that are common tools in the area of business.

When students enter the classes of HHS that deal with business, they are immediately introduced to the varied and ever changing tools which will help them perform certain business skills. Students quickly realize that along with academic skills: correct spelling, placing the figures in the right column, and hitting the correct key comes the skills of how to operate the various machines and what paper must be used to perform a certain task. Business teachers spend many hours drilling correct procedures and the correct usage of materials that directly relate to the business field.

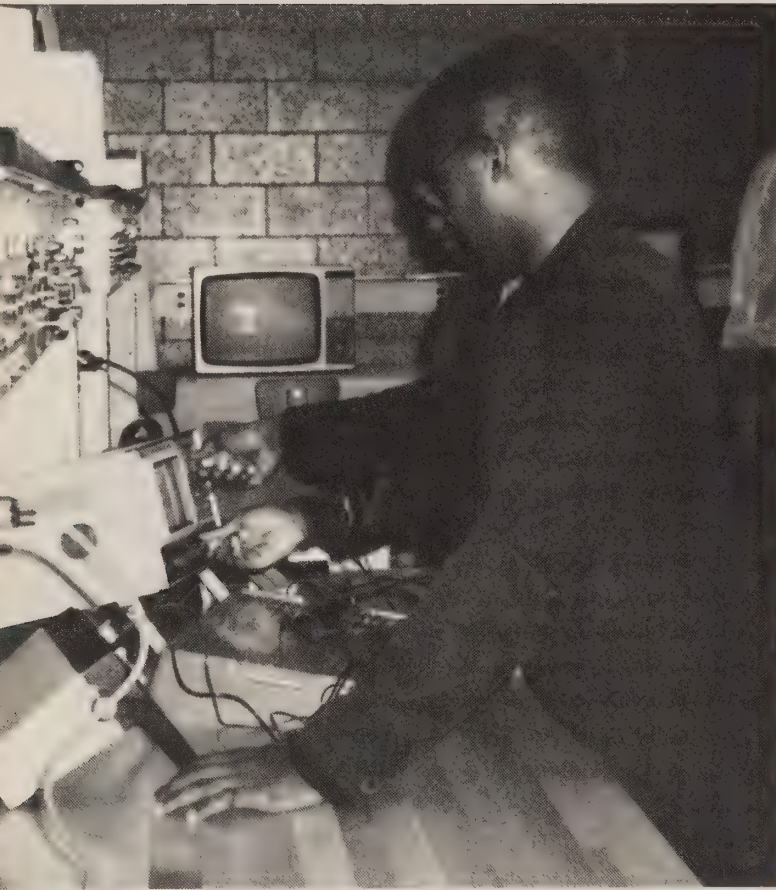

Consulting over the most recent word processing activity are Beth Lawton and James Delane.

Contemplating his next key on the typewriter is Alphonso Jones.

Varied &

Using sophisticated instruments to test a circuit is Larelle Kelly.

Having just finished a piece of work in metal shop, Charles Balbaugh gives a look of contentment.

Practicing proper carpentry skills are Nathan Byrd and Arthur Jones.

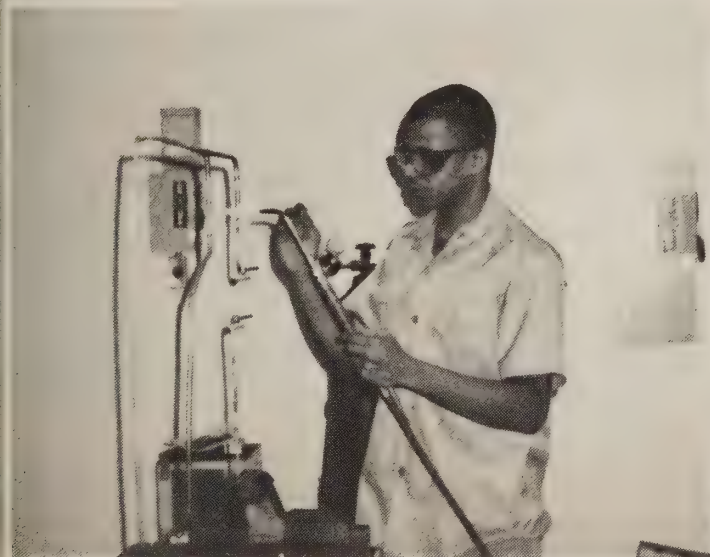

Valuable Vocations

The Vocational Education Department provides training for useful and gainful employment. The vocational department consists of Auto Mechanics, Electricity, Electronics, Machine Shop, Printing, Wood Working, Mechanical Drawing, and Health Career classes. VICA adds another dimension to the department through national, state, and local activities and competitions.

To expand the vocational realm at H.H.S. funds were secured from state and local resources to build the ultimate in vocational training facilities. This facility opened in September of 1986. With this new expansion, students are now able to practice skills in auto body repair, refrigeration and plumbing as well as building and trades. Students are also offered a class in Engineering Drawing which goes hand-in-hand with mechanics and industry. The Vocational department is on the move with up-to-date equipment and new technology to keep the student well informed with the technical scene.

Using an oxyacetylene torch on a length of copper pipe is Adonis Hewlett.

Commenting on the procedure of engine tune-ups is Chuck Woolard.

Taking care to keep the bricks in line, Rolandus Branch practices masonry.

Preparing an infant weight scale for use is Janette Sandidge.

Fastidiously Fabulous

To be a successful student in the Fine Arts Department one must be fastidious in his work. One must be careful to produce art work which is academically correct as well as appealing to the eye. When musical notes are put together, these notes must be played carefully with the correct tempo. Students must be knowledgeable in the reading of music and must develop an ear to hear the harmony. Just as band members must understand music, choir members must also work to blend voices, read music, and present a harmonious sound. Fine Art students are unique individuals that enjoy being careful with their work, enjoy being creative with their art and music, and enjoy developing a harmonious feeling within their accomplishments.

Playing and directing, Mrs. Carolyn Taylor, gives words of encouragement to her choir students.

Giving a wondering stare, art student Anthony Dent, adds life to the classroom.

Making comparisons with color and direct light, Tameia Johns puts the finishing touches on her oil painting.

Members of Mixed Company adds a little yule cheer to the annual Christmas Assembly.

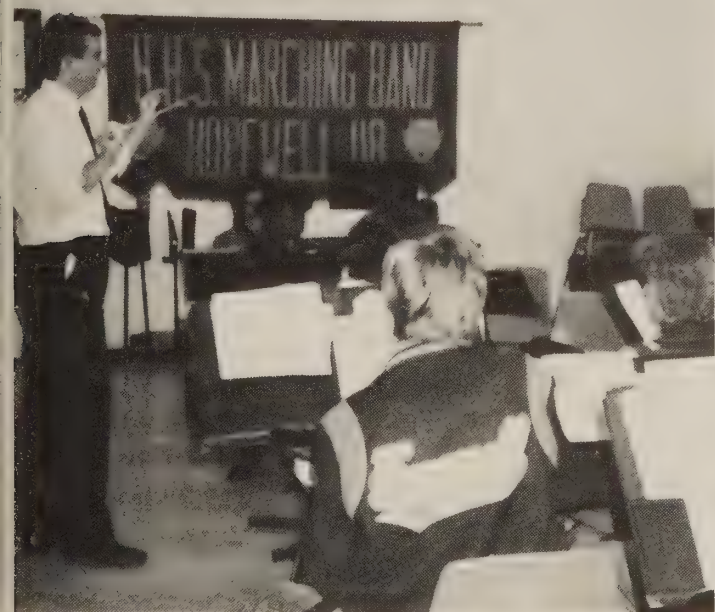

Fine Arts

Guided practice is given to Rhonda Dayvault and Laura Fegiel by Art I teacher, Mrs. Carolyn Whitlock.

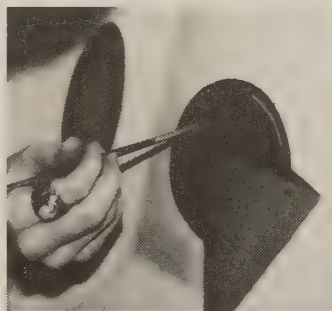

Traveling from school to school during the holiday season, the concert band performs familiar tunes for their young audiences.

Tuning up and preparing to rehearse new music are members of the H.H.S. band class.

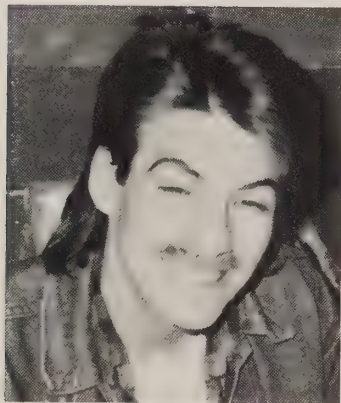

Working from a still life, students in Art I perfect their drawing skills.

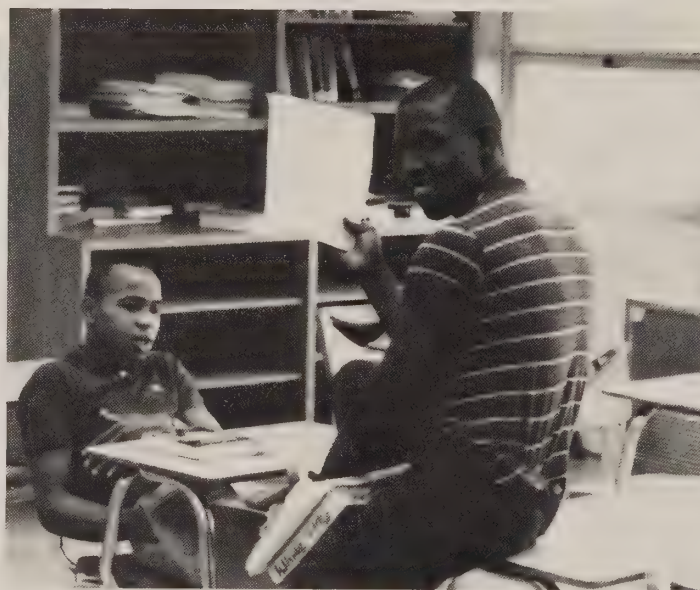

Geometric shapes come to life with oil paint.

The Engagingly Eclectic

It has been said that a mustache tickles. Mike Leslie is thinking about putting the theatrical makeup to the test.

Reviewing for an upcoming English quiz are Cordal Dudley and Alvin Taylor.

English is a course required of all HHS students. The course is made to prepare the student to attend a technical school, college or into the world of work. The course focuses on language, composition and literature study. There are not only the required courses of English but, five elective courses. They include Drama I, Theater Ensemble, Communication Skills and Journalism.

One of the more interesting classes in the English Department is Communications Skills. This class involves group discussions on controversial areas and persuasive speaking. Students find satisfaction in trying out their verbal skills and their ability to communicate with others. Topics that most students enjoy voicing their opinion on are: teenage pregnancy, abortion and capital punishment.

Going over a 5 minute speech before the presentation are Communications teacher, Mrs. Brenda Lee and Shane Moore.

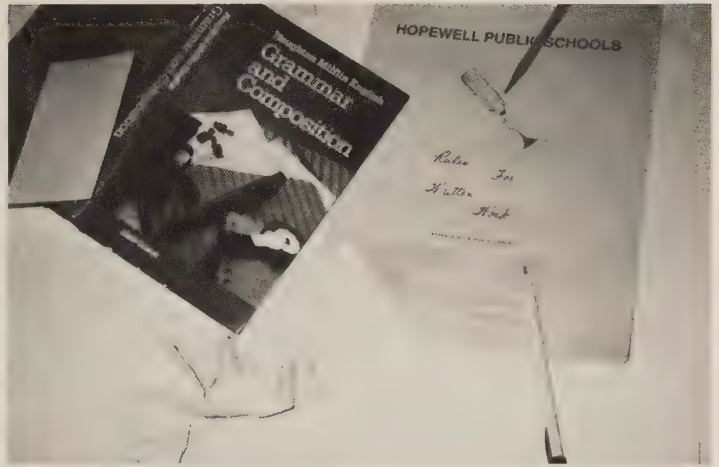

Making a move to the new prop room is a large undertaking for Carmen Browder and Tammy Lewis.

English Department

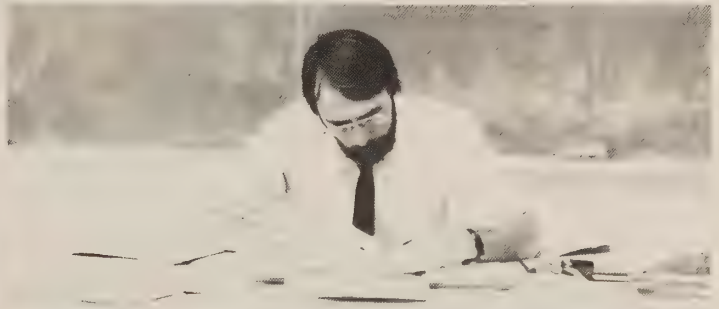

Words! Words! Words! How can there be so many words to express our feelings wonders Randy Minter?

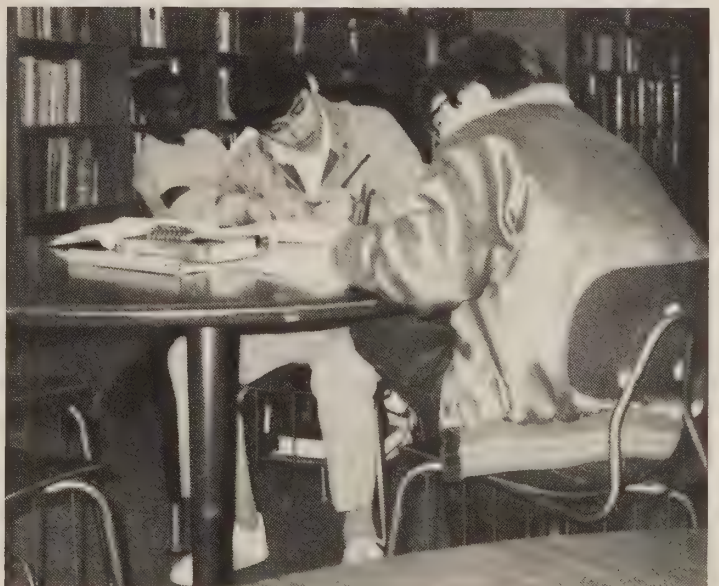

Valuable materials for today's up-to-date English student.

Preparing his daily lesson is Mr. Terry Adams, Junior and Senior English teacher.

As students take notes from the overhead, Miss Stacy Smith prepares to continue her lecture.

Research is a vital part of a term paper. John Henderson and Mathew Davis spend time investigating their topics.

Manipulative

The enjoyment of math shows on the face of Attiya Parker.

Working diligently in her Geometry class is Serena Corbett.

Typing an upcoming test for her geometry students is Mrs. Welp.

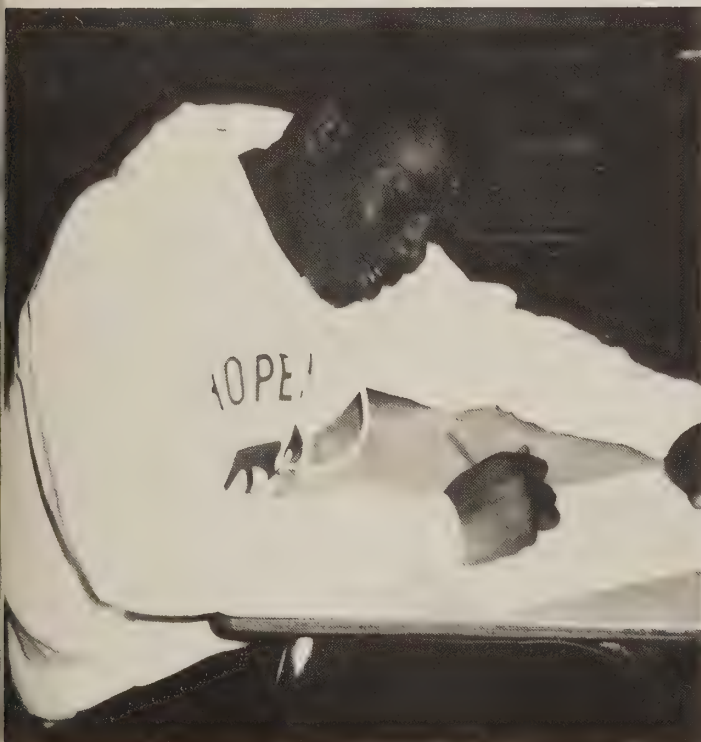

Mr. Beahm gladly gives assistance to his computer math students.

Multiplicative Math

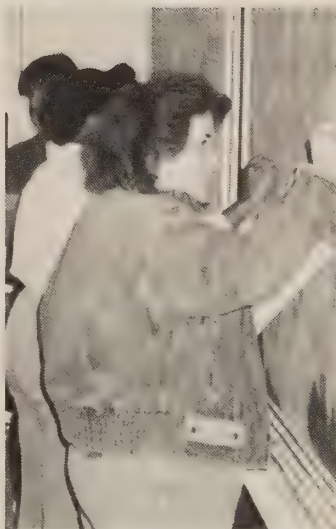

While collecting papers from students, Mrs. Harkrader expresses a friendly smile.

Everett Gilliam studiously works to complete his assignment.

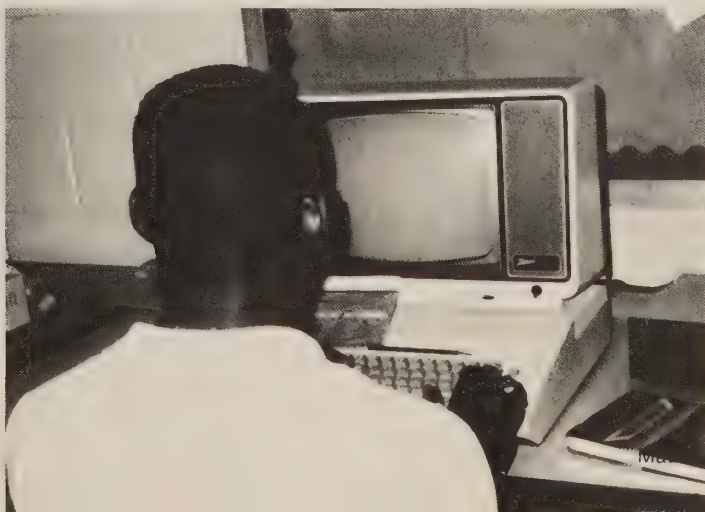

When students discuss algebra, geometry, trigonometry, or calculus, you often hear the statement "Why study this? I'll never use it again." Students have a difficult time transferring what they learn in a geometry class to actual use. They feel that the theorems are useless in their everyday life, but, on occasion, they come across a problem which draws from their math background. When asked to draw an equilateral triangle in an art class, a geometry student has no trouble. When the area of a room is needed in an electricity class, math figuring is needed. When students need to work out a chemistry problem and an unknown factor exists, algebra comes into play; when students need to calculate derivatives, their working knowledge of calculus aids in their ability to work out the problem.

Students who go in another direction in their study of math are apt to see its usefulness more quickly. Those who study business math, computer math, or are enrolled in general math courses are given the opportunity to use their math skills. Balancing a checkbook, keeping accurate accounting figuring, and figuring out a budget are all vital skills which are useful on a day-to-day basis and are a part of the math that is taught daily at H.H.S.

Earnestly writing her math problem on the chalkboard is Tracy Buffalow.

Harmoniously Humming

Displaying her Hawaiian outfit is Deborah Outlaw.

Concentration for a quiz is not always easy sighs Michael Ann Caffrey.

Being accurate in measuring material for a garment is very important to Tonya Bradley and Maggie Delane.

For her excellent achievements in Home Ec., Mrs. Alwayne Claybrook receives the Va. Home Economics Association Teacher of the Year.

Making their debut is Antoinette Perry and daughter.

The Home Economics courses offered at Hopewell High are wide and varied. They range from Food Management, and Fashion to Marriage and Family, and Child Development.

The newest course, is Child Care Occupations I and II. This course has become popular because of a need that has become nationwide. With many mothers returning to the work force of America, a desperate need for child care has arisen. In the immediate locality there are at least seven child care institutions that have sprung up in the past four years.

These institutions are always in need of workers that are trained in child care. The course that has been introduced at H.H.S. is aimed at filling this need in the years to come. Students who participate in this class find themselves faced with simulated problems which they may face when employed at a child care center. Along with dealing with problems in this area, students become familiar with crafts, games, and educational projects which will be beneficial in this area of work.

Preparing a menu for the Cafe Hero, is Pam Cunningham.

Concentrating on her work is Carol Stinski.

Modeling her latest creation is Hester Jones.

Moving with flair, Tonya Bradley models her full length wool cape and skirt.

Giving encouragement to her teammates is Tess Foster.

Waiting for just the right pitch is Chris Brown, member of Mr. Henderson's P.E. class.

Mrs. Jack smiles as she willingly gives blood.

All shapes and sizes must take Physical Education in the ninth grade at H.H.S.

Because lifestyles have become less active due to technological advancement, it is important for people to become self-disciplined when it comes to keeping the body fit. It is important to get daily exercise and to keep the body sound by only putting into it those things proven to be nourishing and healthy.

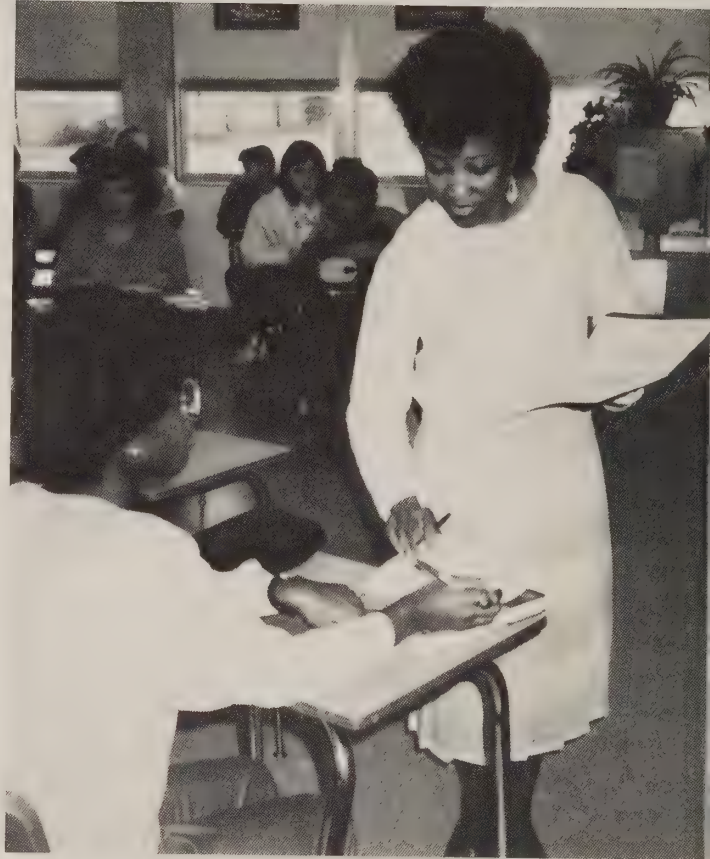

Physical Education classes at H.H.S. are like physical education classes throughout the country. These classes strive to provide exercises through games, competitions, and guided floor exercises. Students are required to participate in Physical Education in the ninth and tenth grades, but a number of students opt to take elective P.E. during their junior and senior years. Not only are students instructed in physical participation, they also meet in a classroom situation to study health, driver's education, drug abuse, and other timely topics which are relevant to keeping healthy and physically fit. Students often times discover that through physical education they become interested in a sport or a career that may carry over into their adult life and keep them physically active for a number of years.

HOLA! BONJOUR!

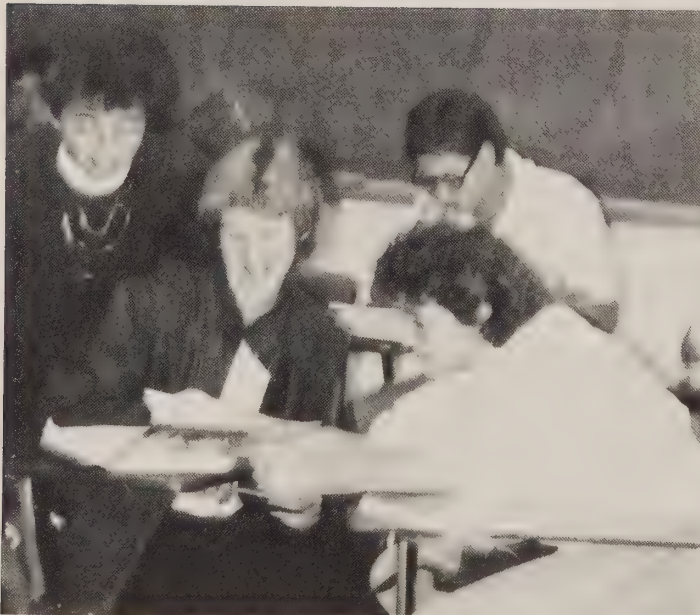

When the exchange students come to the halls of H.H.S. and they carry on conversations in their native tongue, it becomes quite obvious that our world is small. It becomes obvious that in order for people around the world to work together, people must be able to communicate. Foreign countries are emphasizing the need to have English as a second language and the United States encourages their young people to study the languages of other nations.

At Hopewell High, three languages are offered: Latin, Spanish and French. Latin, being the root language of many languages, proves to be a good foundation. Spanish and French are languages that are found in many areas of the world and therefore prove to be serviceable tools when dealing with foreign nations.

The foreign language department attempts to give the student a workable knowledge of the language as well as insight into the cultures from which these languages originate. Students enjoy participating in some of the traditional festivals that are a part of the school year.

Checking homework from second year Spanish class members is Miss Veronica Jones.

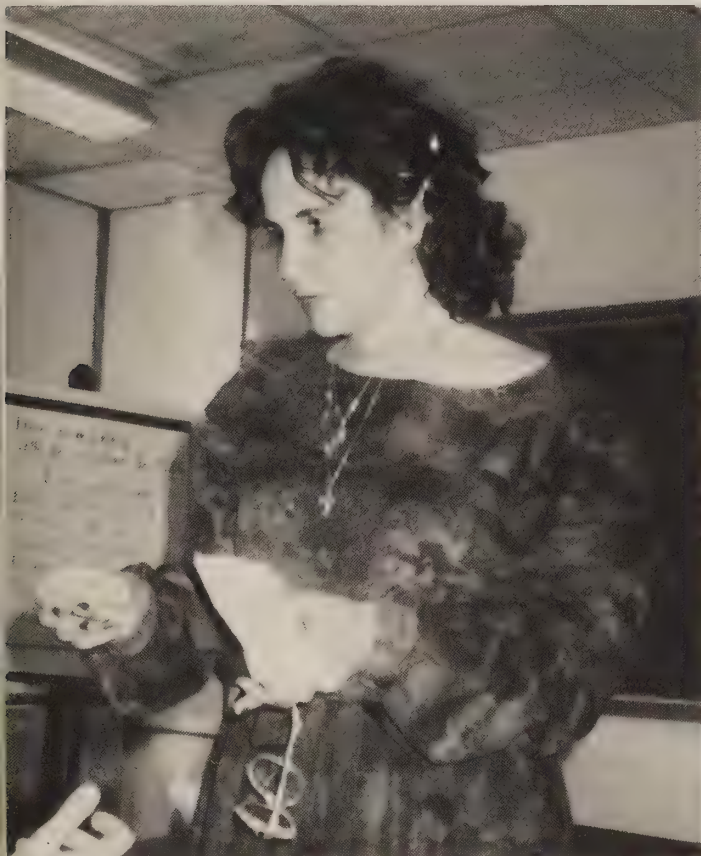

Comparing worksheets are Rannette Jones, Sheri Salvo and Laurie Medeiros.

Participants in the Christmas Pageant assume many and varied roles.

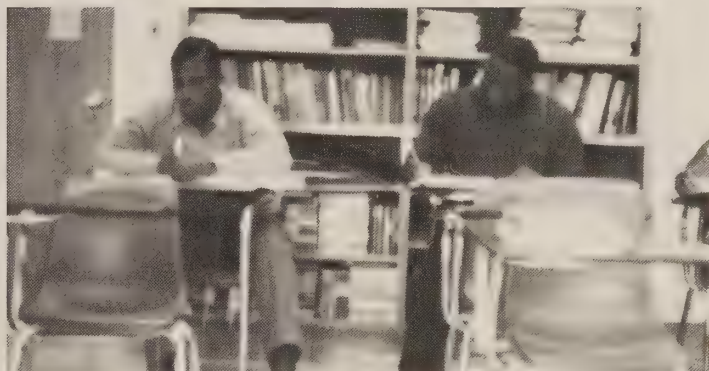

SALVETE!

Department head, Mrs. Mercedes Sais rewards a student with a treat.

A "community project" is shared by Miss Jones' second year Spanish class.

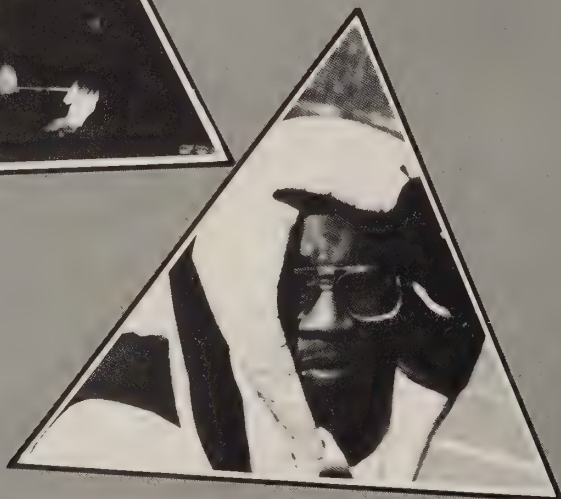

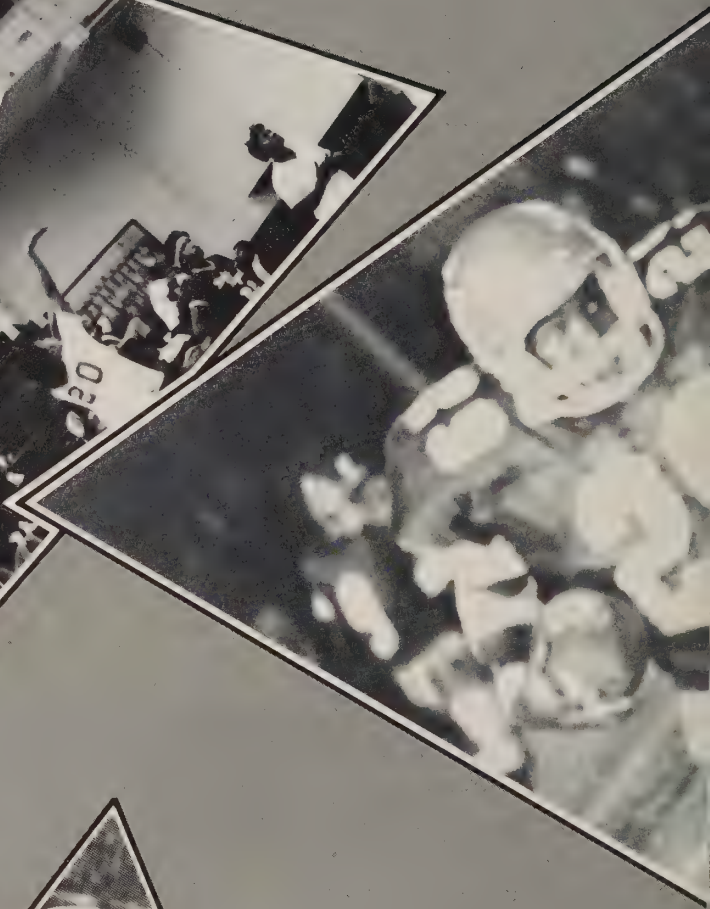

Seniors, Billy Crockett and Greg Daniels work on fourth year Spanish translations.

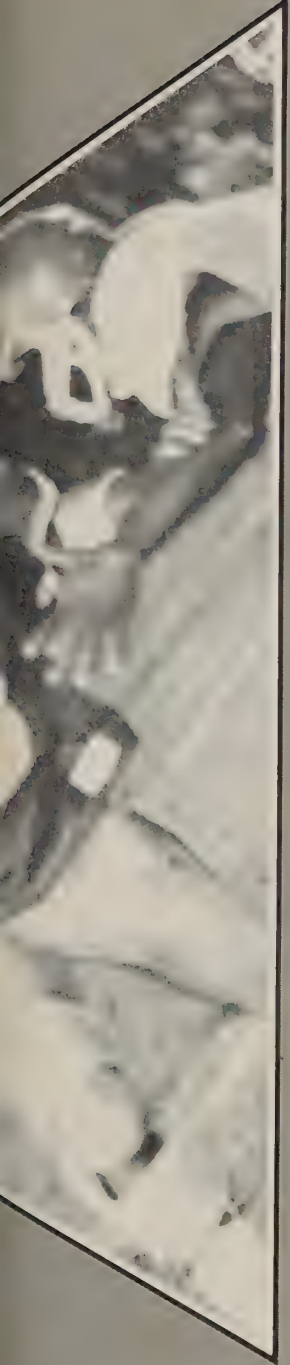

Participating in a pep rally is Mrs. Claudia An, H.H.S. French teacher.

Directing the Christmas Pageant sponsored by the Foreign Language Department is Miss Veronica Jones.

Tough Breaks

The 1986 Blue Devil Football Team captured second place in the district with a 5-1 district record. Tough breaks and close games proved to be the story as the gridiron barely missed the regional playoffs. Many individual players proved strong in achieving goals and accomplishments. Eric Walden rushed for a district leading 883 yards and was named the Central District's Offensive Player of the Year. Walden along with cousin Chris Hollaway proved to be the district's deadliest backfield. Co-captain Greg Daniels spearheaded the offense passing for 923 yards and 7 touchdowns. Seniors Lawrence Pettaway and Co-captain Edward Scott were named to the Group AAA All-State Team. With some help from the junior varsity team, the Blue Devils will face a rebuilding, but steady, year for 1987.

Batting • 500

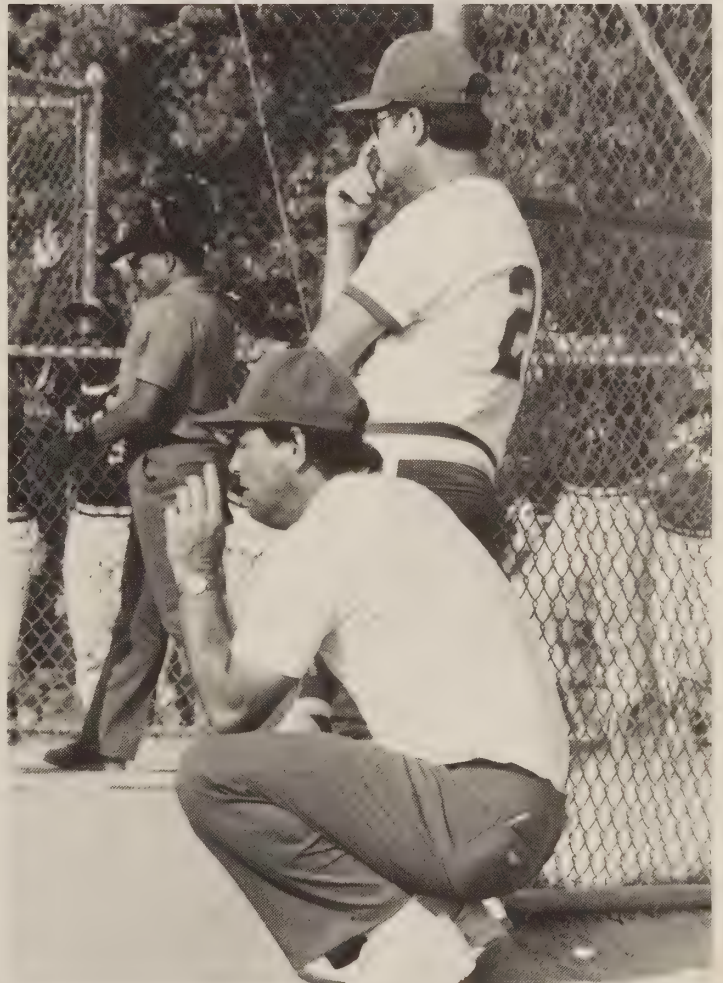

The 1986 Blue Devil Baseball team began the season with high expectations, but finished with a disappointing 9-9 record. Senior co-captains Danny Acord and Doug Wagner shared the most valuable player award and both were selected to the All-District team. Acord also led the team in RBI's with 14 and homeruns with 3. Junior Brent Bennett hit for a batting average of .352. Senior Jimmy Sears had the best pitching record and was selected as the most spirited player. With many returning players, the Blue Devils should be a strong contender for the Central District crown.

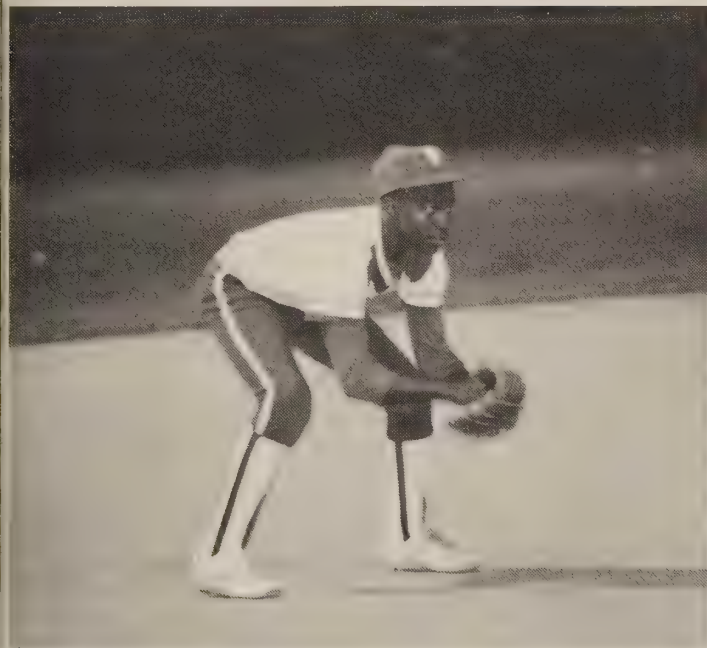

Taking a long stride, Chris Neal unleashes a fast ball.

Two-Time Winners

The 1986 Lady Blue Devil Basketball Team played strong all year long, winning 9 out of their last 10 games before losing a close game to Patrick Henry in the semi-finals of the regional tournament. Senior co-captains Crystal Lively and Robin Eldridge led the Lady Devils to their second straight Central District Tournament trophy. All Central District team honors went to Joyce Williams, Janice Baum, and Tonya Conyers. Williams averaged 19 points a game and was named to the All Regional Team. Conyers averaged 12.1 rebounds and Crystal Lively led the team with 4.9 assists. With an undefeated junior varsity team and two starters back, the Lady Blue Devils should be a definite basketball power.

Track to the TOP

The Hopewell High School track and field team proved to be a formidable contender in the race for the Central District Championship, losing only one of six meets. There were also many individual accomplishments achieved throughout the season by several of the athletes. All-district honors were received by David Lizama, Edward Scott, and Derrick Carr. David Lizama also beat Paul Mahan's school record in the 400 meter dash, and went on to be named Most Valuable Player in track events. Edward Scott and Derrick Carr received additional honors by being named Most Promising. Coach Hoover is quoted as saying that "This year's team was probably the most talented I've ever coached." This year's girls' team was not successful again because of lack of participation. They did, however, win their first meet in ten years. Receiving awards were Michelle Weekes, who was named Most Valuable Player for track, and Minell Gholson, who was named both Most Promising and Most Valuable Player for field events.

Soccer '86

Soccer is a very competitive sport. The players must be in excellent physical condition. Not only must they dribble the ball and pass it back and forth with their feet, but they also must spend the entire game dashing back and forth across the field. The goalie does much less running, but he must have excellent reflexes that enable him to block open goals by using his body as a shield.

This year's Hopewell soccer team was smaller than in previous years but made up for this with tireless enthusiasm and team spirit. The team was headed up by co-captains Eric Quint and Mario Lounderman. Several members were singled out for special recognition including Mario who was chosen for the all-district team. Others included David Weaver, who received the Outstanding Goalie Award. Chris Williamson was the most improved defensive player, Tom Gruwell the most improved midfield player. Congratulations, guys!

Goalie David Weaver leaps into action to deflect an approaching ball.

First-Time District Champs

Hopewell High's wrestling squad seized it's first-ever Central District title with a 43-25 victory over Petersburg. Hopewell closed out the regular season with a 5-0 district record and a 9-2 overall record. The Blue Devil Matmen continued their string of successes by capturing the Central District Tournament trophy. Sophomore Chris Christian finished the regular season with a 14-0 record at the 185 pound weight class. Senior Robbie Nesbitt and Sophomore Wade Thayer captured their weight class at 125 and 105, respectively. The matmen return 10 out of 13 starters and should easily defend their title.

Team Effort

If a theme song could be chosen for the 1986-87 Blue Devil Basketball Team, it would have to be "You've Got to Have Heart." We may not have size, but we do have speed, experience, and a fierce desire to WIN! This team has that special something that enables them to reach down deep inside themselves to succeed. This season has proven that no one player is bigger than the team, and the reward for this kind of unselfish effort has been an undefeated regular season for the first time since 1970-71.

Every player this season may have been acutely aware of his team role, but there certainly have been outstanding individual achievements as well. VHSL All-Star Greg Daniels joined the eight member 1000-Point Club, was named to the All-Central District First Team, and made the Central District All-Academic Team. Chris Holloway was named Central District Player of the Year, made the All-Central District First Team, and broke the school record for career assists. Billy Crockett was among the top ten Central District scorers, Lawrence Pettaway received Honorable Mention honors on the All-Central District Team, and Kenny Balint was named to the Central District All-Academic Team.

Hopewell High can point with pride to a group of outstanding individuals who have bonded together to create a truly excellent team.

Getting back quick, Lawrence Pet-taway sets up the defense.

Off his finger tips, Bill Crockett shoots over his opponent.

Bringing the ball upcourt, Nelson Waller sets up the play.

Double teaming the opponent Keith Hill and Chris Neal cause another turnover.

Central District Co-Champs

The Hopewell Blue Devil Boys' Indoor Track Team raced to a dead lock tie with John Marshall for the Central District title. David Lizama bettered Travis Jasper of John Marshall by 1½ inches to clinch the tie. Standout Senior David Lizama collected a first in the 500 meters, a second in the 55 meters and the 300 meters, and a third in the long jump. Freshmen Matthew High captured a first in the 3,200 meters and a second in the 1,600 meters. The girls' team, though lacking in participation, placed fourth in the district tournament.

Linking the Shots

The junior ladder HHS Golf Team got off to a slow start this past fall due to injuries and illness. But the young Devils rallied to finish a strong third with a 6-4 district record and 6-7 overall.

Coach Bob Witherow's team did have a few bright spots. Junior Shane Moore qualified for the regional tournament while fellow teammate junior Bill Daniel was the team's MVP.

With all players returning next season, great things are expected from this group of golfers.

Drawing back for a long drive, junior David Elliott hopes for a good lie.

All golfers have these days, Shane Moore leaves one lying.

Faster than a fleeting bullet, Bill Daniel's golf club prepares to meet the ball.

Hitting solid, Daryl Woodlief follows through.

Freshman sensation, Matt High proved his endurance by competing in the district, regional, and state meets.

Breathing heavily, Chuck Taylor makes the final turn for the finish line.

Burning Up the Course

HOT! — That's a synonym for the Hopewell High School 1986 Cross-Country team. They were so hot that surrounding teams are still recovering from the burns resulting from Hopewell's 8-1 overall record and 5-1 Central District record. The team, consisting only of underclassmen, captured second place in the district meet and tenth in the Central Regional Championship race. Team captain Raymond Pedrick, and team members Jody Buyalos, Jeff Cook, and Matthew High received All-Central-District Honors. Matthew High went on to receive All-Regional Honors and was also the individual district champion.

Netting Is Difficult

A team composed of five freshmen, two sophomores, and six juniors gave an all out effort to improve and build for a successful year. This effort fell short with only one district victory, however the record does not tell the whole story. Five matches were decided with a point spread of only one. This young team was bolstered by a freshman and a sophomore, Corbett and Townsend, who came away with a 5-4 doubles record. Even though the team did not boast a winning season, the coach and players feel that the 87-88 season will be a different story. All players will be returning and the lady netters will take to the court prepared to WIN!

Sticks and Flicks

H.H.S. Hockey came away from the Central District Tournament as the 1986 champions. With a regular season of 8-1 and an overall season of 8-2 this team of Lady Devils proved to be a formidable foe for all those whom they faced. Sue Bransford and Dawn Rackley served as team captains and Rackley was named most valuable player as well as a member of the All District and All Regional teams. Others making the All District team were Sue Bransford, Rennee Harris, Stephanie Parr and Pam Cutrona. Defensive stand-outs were Amy O'Dell and Beverly Keen who made the competitors think twice before moving down the field. This young team with only two seniors will have the skill and determination to take on their opponents. This determination will hopefully carry on to the 87-88 season.

After a long and tiring game, the field hockey team takes a lemon break.

A Full Time Job — Cheering

Varsity Cheering is a year-round activity that begins in the summer with cheering camp and continues on until try-outs for the next year are held.

Cheerleaders cheer at all

Friday night football games, sell programs to raise money for uniforms, and practice daily on new and varied routines. Cheering continues into the winter months with basketball twice a week and wrestling once a week. Cheerleaders spend many hours supporting the varsity teams and these hours often cut into study time. When cheerleaders travel to away games, it is a common sight to see them boarding the bus with books in hand. Their studies cannot come second so they try to use each available moment to support the team and keep their grades up to par.

Waiting out the all important play is junior cheerleader Laurie Full.

Taking a moment before the game to get a last minute practice in is head cheerleader Sandy Blaha.

Determining what the next cheer will be against Monacan are the H.H.S.

Varsity Cheerleaders.

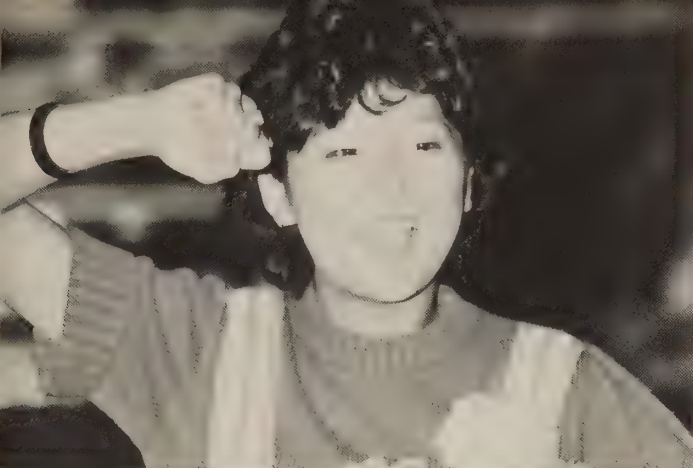

Time-out from varsity camp practice find Michelle Gibbs, Latesha Vaughan, Sandy Blaha, and Kim Maddux posing for the camera.

A variety of emotions are shared by Tammy Lewis, Tammy Almarode, and Laurie Full as they watch the Devil team move down the field.

Rooting from the sidelines, the varsity squad gives a yell for the victorious Blue Devils.

14-4 IMPRESSIVE!

Spring brings warm days, sunny skies and green grass. Spring also marks the season for men, women, boys, and girls to take to the outdoors. Many of these people enjoy the age old pastime of playing baseball and softball. The H.H.S. Lady Devils are no exception to the rule. The 1986 Devilettes took to the diamond and met their opponents with enthusiasm and aggressiveness.

Seniors, Cindy Nicely, Dee Ann Holland and Patti Sumner led the team with a great deal of experience.

Cindy Nicely, the catcher, proved her skill by being named to the All-District Team. The team captain and first baseman, Patti Sumner led the team with her record number of hits and was named the Most Valuable Player for 1986.

Through the efforts of team and coach, the Lady Devils came through the season with an impressive record. The regular season ended 14-4 and the district recorded the H.H.S. team in second place behind Monacan.

We never forget that a single pill can cause a drug interaction. Even Death. Not a dangerous narcotic or tranquilizer...Just a simple pill.

Your Medicine Shoppe pharmacist remembers when:

*One prescription conflicts with another...
Your allergy can cause a drug reaction...
Foods don't mix with the drugs you take...*

We also remember how many prescriptions you purchased last year...How much you paid for each one... Who your doctors are.

We have to be honest though. Our computer helps.

Ask us for your free computerized print-out to help with year end taxes or insurance.

Fitting the Pieces Together

From the corner, Carl Daniels shoots over his opponent.

Making the precise measurement, Mr. Bell instructs a student on the milling machine.

Keeping things in order, Miss Jones instructs the Spanish program.

Computing the daily assignment are members of Mr. Beahm's Computer class.

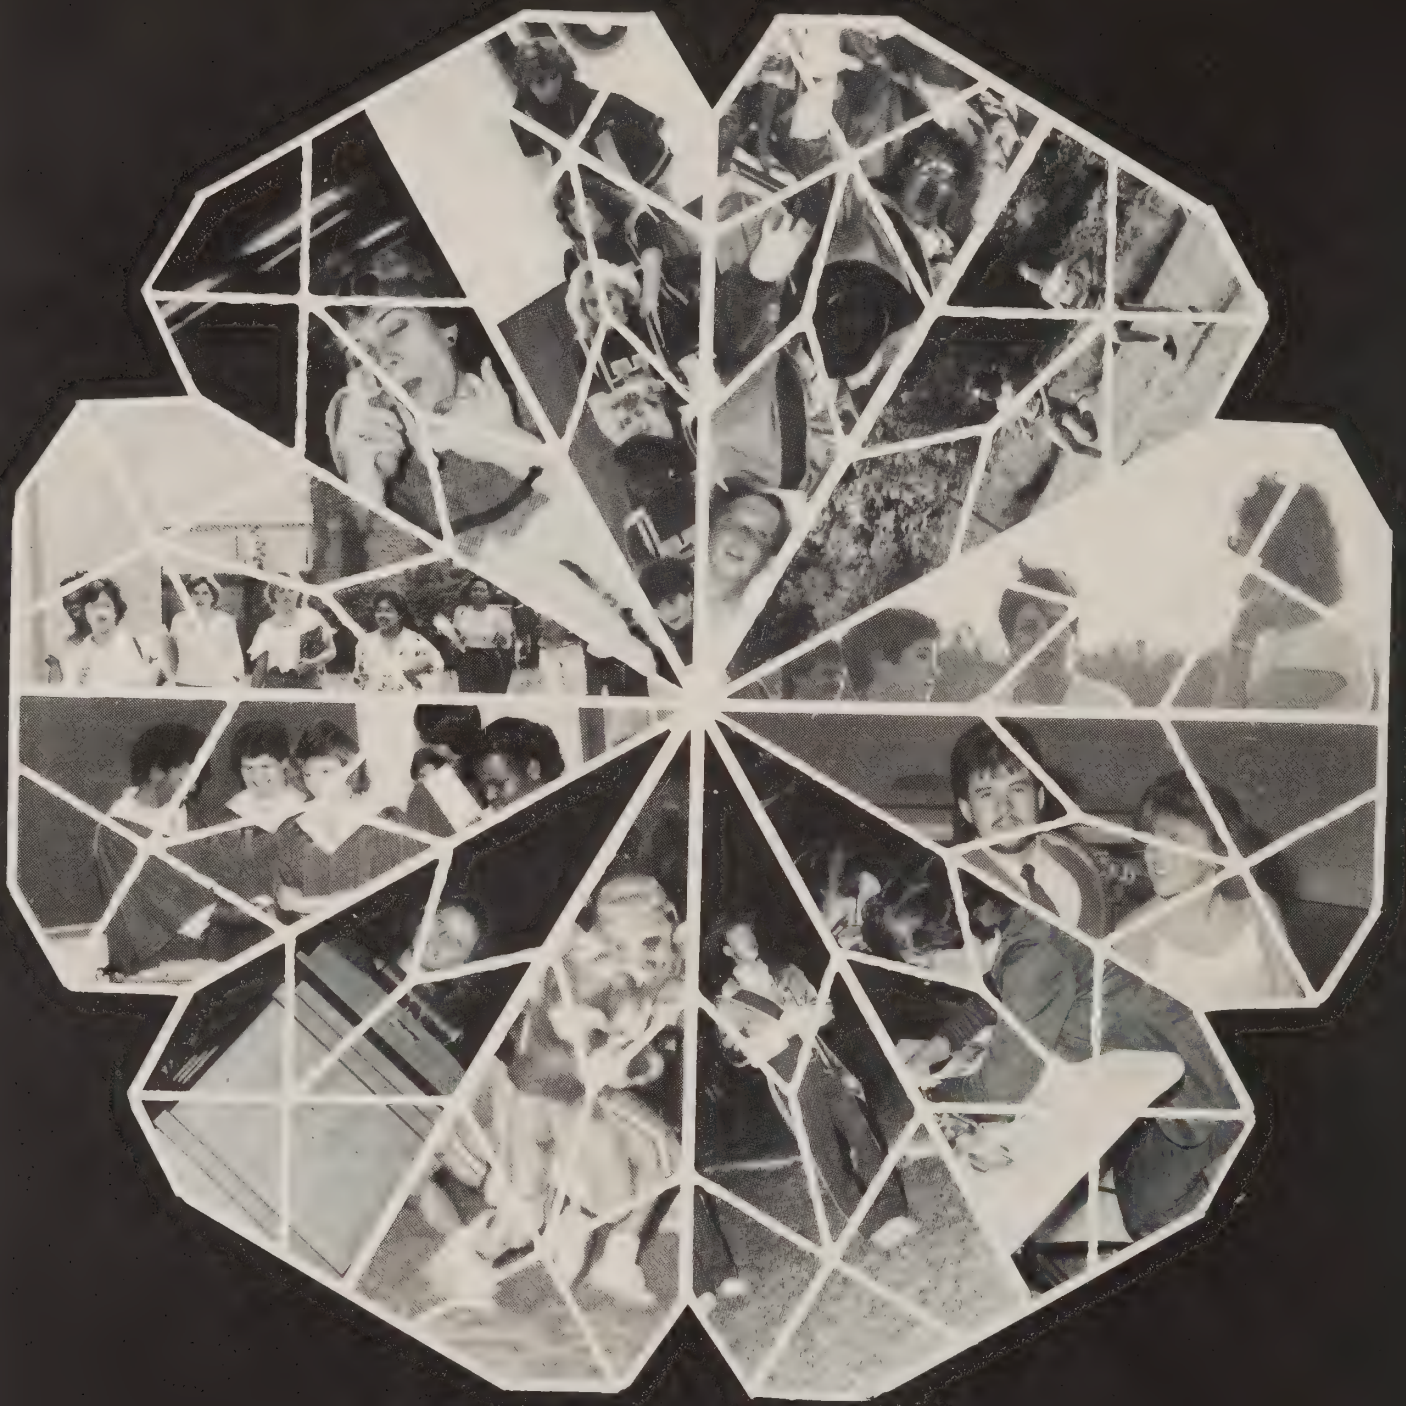

Even though HHS has short lunches, students still find time to socialize.

After winning the Central District Tournament, Rachael Kimbrell cuts down her portion of the net.

Taking it easy, Raymond Pedrick displays his cross country and track medals.

The Last Turn!

Thanks for the Memories!

This is what five years as a year-book sponsor does to a person.

Whitlock, our fearless leader!

"But it could be ANYWHERE!"

How do you thank a person for five years of her life? Of course, it is impossible to express the gratitude we feel for those hours upon hours of writing endless copy, taking countless photographs, organizing the selling of advertisements and books, pouring over proof pages, and generally mothering KALEIDOSCOPE staffs spent by our own Carolyn Falls Whitlock.

There must have been times when her patience was stretched to its very limits, to say nothing of her sanity. Mrs. Whitlock can be proud and satisfied with the five yearbooks that she has contributed to the history of Hopewell High School. There is no way to repay her dedication, energy, and creativity, so we must settle for simply saying THANK YOU for being you!
